Nazi Rumors Fade; Carol Tightens Grip

BERLIN DENIES ARMY MENACES HITLER REGIME

Holds Reports Purge Led to Rebellious Movement Was Spread Deliberately.

NAZIS ADMIT 'TENSION'

But Rumors That Fuehrer's Fighting Revolt Arouses Government's Anger.

(By International News Service) BERLIN—Despite rumors abroad of "grave" events in Germany, all was quiet in Berlin today, business was conducted in normal fashion and there was no outward sign of any unusual excitement or extraordinary activity.

Incensed at the flood of rumors which swept Europe, claiming that Chancellors Hitler's dictatorship was being threatened by a rebellious movement, the German government today issued a strongly worded communique denying reports of a rebellious movement against the Hitler regime.

Rumors "Deliberate." Alleging the reports were deliberate attempts to provoke uneasiness, the statement said: "In order to create unrest and anxiety among the European public, rumors are being circulated about disorders in Germany. It is hardly necessary to declare these rumors are pure inventions without any foundation whatever."

High Nazi circles admitted, however, that there was tension among German army officers, but denied it even approached the point of a rebellious explosion.

Any resentment lingering with army officers against Hitler's bloodless purge of the military high command is chiefly confined to east Prussia and Pomerania, it was said.

BUTLER DIES

Shock of Fall From Train Kills Son of U. S. Justice.

GREENSBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Severe shock, the result of painful injuries suffered when he fell from a speeding passenger train, today brought death to Kevin Butler, 31-year-old son of United States Supreme Court Justice Pierce Butler.

Butler died at Westmoreland hospital at 1:05 a. m. without regaining full consciousness. Hospital attaches said the shock was so great they could not risk moving him to make x-ray examinations of injuries believed to include a fractured skull and a possible broken back.

Butler's young wife, Martha A. Butler, who had flown from New York to Pittsburgh had chartered a fast automobile to bring her here, where she was at his bedside when death came.

ANYBODY GOT JAIL FOR SALE?

Ohio Township Needs One, Appeals to City For Help.

MIDDLETOWN—(AP)—Lemon township, Butler county is in the market for jail space. The township trustees appealed to City Manager Walter J. Braun for permission to use the city's calaboose.

Said Chairman H. C. McLaughlin: "The township is in a predicament. It has constables and justices of the peace—but no jail. There's a jail at Monroe but it is inadequate and the board would have to pay someone to watch the prisoners."

City officials took the matter under consideration.

CONFER ON CITY SEWAGE PLANT

Hunter, Aids Go to Columbus to Meet With State on Difficulties.

Acting to eliminate certain mechanical difficulties at the city's new $300,000 sewage disposal plant, city officials were in Columbus today to confer with F. H. Waring, chief engineer for the state health department.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter was accompanied to the capital by A. M. Mock, city designing engineer, and James R. Turner, newly appointed head of the sewage plant.

"The meeting is in conjunction with the elimination of the same spots in the mechanical equipment at the plant and it is hoped that we can obtain some definite information concerning these difficulties as reported by Bruce McDill in his recent inspection trip here," Hunter explained.

He said he also wanted Waring to meet Turner, whom he appointed last Saturday as superintendent of the sewage treatment plant to succeed Paul J. Sotherland, who resigned at the mayor's request.

Hunter said he had the approval of the appointment of Turner if a technical supervisor was employed by the city for at least one year to instruct the new superintendent, after which Turner would be required to pass an examination for the post.

Waring was quoted in dispatches as saying that he understood that James Collier, who held the position of technical supervisor for six months last year, would be rehired, and that he would be responsible to the state health department.

County Still 'In the Dark' On Funds From State For Relief

Richland county's relief problem, which appears "solved" one day and a problem again the next, remained a puzzle to relief officials today following a visit to Columbus by county commissioners.

While all three members of the board of commissioners were out of the city today and could not be reached for a statement, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the commissioners had visited the state treasurer's office yesterday afternoon in an attempt to learn how much help the county can expect this month from the state.

It was understood that no definite information was obtained, leaving county officials "in the dark" concerning the amount of funds to be allocated and the time to expect the state contribution.

Royal Dictatorship Decree Extends State of Siege Throughout Country.

ARMY POWER BROADENED

Once 'Madcap Prince' Draws Praise From Countrymen For Move In Crisis.

(By United Press) BUCHAREST—Rumania's 19,000,000 people woke today to find themselves under a royal dictatorship backed by the army and a stern state of siege.

When the people went to bed last night the anti-Jewish cabinet of Octavian Goga had resigned, bitterly enraged, proclaiming: "Israel, you are victorious."

"Israel, you are victorious," proclaimed a new government. Non-political in character, embracing not only the country's strongest men of varied political affiliations, but, perhaps more importantly, both the National Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches. The new cabinet included seven former prime ministers under the Patriarch Miron Cristea, president of the holy synod of the Orthodox church.

King Addresses Cabinet.

King Carol, addressing this cabinet as the country slept, said he intended to put a brake on both the right and left wings in politics.

At 3 a. m., as the cabinet meeting ended, the monarch addressed a proclamation to the people, announcing that the constitution would be modified to meet new needs and that his new government was designed to end the turbulent situation that, off and on, had endured for eight years.

Of his new government, the king said: "They will work courageously."

GIRL MISSING

Woman Tells Police Sister Had Been in Ill Health.

Police today were asked to search for a Mansfield girl who has been missing from her home since last night.

Mrs. Dale Cleckner, 275 Marian avenue, reported to police today that her sister, Violet Mahon, 24, had left her mother's home, 25 Elmwood drive, sometime during the night and could not be found. She said the girl had been ill for several months and was under a nervous strain. She asked that the search be made for her.

She described her to the police as five feet five inches tall, weighing 90 pounds, with brown eyes, brown and brown bushy hair. She said the girl was wearing a brown polo coat and black gaiters and had no hat.

Mrs. Cleckner told police that the girl had left her home after 10 p. m. yesterday, when the family retired. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Cleckner.

HITS POLITICAL 'MEDDLING' IN U. S. DEFENSES

Hagood, Ex-Army Officer, Says Nation's Security Being Made a 'Football.'

CRITICIZES CONGRESS

Says Lawmakers 'Neglectful' In Making Rules For Army, Navy Regulations.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON—A fiery, retired army officer said today that national defense and the security of this country "is being made the football of politics."

Major General Johnson Hagood, whose retirement followed his temporary suspension by President Roosevelt for criticism of some administration policies, told the house naval committee that congress had been "neglectful" of the duty imposed on it by the constitution to make the rules for regulation of the army and navy.

Power Drifting.

He said that, for the past hundred years, it had let this power "drift more and more into the hands of the executive."

"The result of it is," he said, "that no one today knows for what purpose the land and naval forces are to be used."

Hagood testified on the proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion shortly after the committee had refused, 14 to 2, to call Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, to testify who had "expertly informed" him the United States and British fleets would "automatically" cooperate in the Pacific should the occasion demand.

This action was taken shortly before President Roosevelt, at his press conference, expressed doubt today that he would have anything to say to congress in the near future on foreign affairs.

Asks $16,000,000 More.

Earlier, it was disclosed that the president had asked congress for a supplementary appropriation of $16,880,000 to strengthen the army.

Representative Brewster (R-Me.) offered a motion in house naval committee to summon Krock. Only one other member of the committee, Representative Shannon (D-Mo) supported Brewster.

The president made his statement regarding foreign affairs after a question as to whether he intended to "graft" the expressed desire of Senator Johnson (R-Calif) for more information on foreign affairs.

When the chief executive said he could not answer the question in that form he was asked whether he would have anything to say to congress soon on the subject of foreign affairs. Mr. Roosevelt replied that he did not think so.

Holds Bedside Court For 14 'Living Dead'

Judge Hears Story of 'Doomed' Women Slowly Dying of Radium Poisoning; One Faints as Surgeon Testifies She Won't Live Long.

(By United Press) OTTAWA, Ill.—Seven of 14 "doomed" women, all dying by inches of radium poisoning, were summoned to the bedside of a fellow sufferer today for a hearing on their compensation case before an Illinois industrial commission arbitrator.

Nine women already have died.

Mrs. Catherine Donohue described her "living death" yesterday to obtain compensation for incapacities she attributes to her work in a plant of the Radium Watch Dial company.

She fainted when she heard Dr. Walter Dalitich, dental surgeon of the University of Illinois, testify that the poisoning gradually destroying her bones will surely kill her. Arbitrator George B. Marvel decided to conduct his hearings at her home henceforth.

Quarantine Order Takes Effect Today

Children Not Immunized Barred From Schools; 4 New Cases Listed.

A general quarantine of all children in Mansfield schools who have not been immunized was in effect today as Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county public health commissioner ordered the precautionary step taken in the health department's fight against mounting smallpox cases.

The immediate quarantine of all pupils in the city who have not been vaccinated for a period of 17 days pending developments was ordered by the commissioner following the report today of four new cases of smallpox. Under the order, children will not be allowed to attend school until the quarantine expires or until they are vaccinated.

Of the four new cases, all children, three are students at Newman school while the other is a pupil at Western avenue school.

Total in County 39.

The latest cases raise to 39 the total number reported since the first outbreak of the disease last Friday. The new cases bring the city total to 14 while 25 are ill in the county with the disease.

Cases reported by the health authorities today are James Culler, 11, 473 Wayne street; Betty Stutz, 10, 193 Wayne street, and Louis Degregoria, 7, all of Newman street school, and Juanita Bellview, 6, 1062 Park avenue west, a student at the Western avenue school.

With the inoculation of more than 5,000 pupils in the city schools in the past three days, Dr. Rehder announced that the immunization program had been completed in the city and that physicians and nurses would move back into the rural classrooms today.

He said it was hoped that immunization in all rural schools in Washington, Jefferson, Worthington and Morrow townships could be completed by health authorities today.

Meanwhile International News Service dispatches from Columbus quoted Dr. Finley Van Orsall, chief of the communicable disease division of the state health department, as saying that he and Dr. P. L. Harris, also of the department, would come to Mansfield Saturday to determine the seriousness of the smallpox outbreak here.

As a convenience for those who have not been vaccinated, Dr. Rehder said that the health department offices in the city building would be open from 4 p. m. until 9 p. m. today and from 8 a. m. until 9 p. m. tomorrow. He again urged all persons who have not been successfully vaccinated

SLEET MELTS

Rain and Snow Due Tonight Says Forecast.

An early morning coat of sleet that glazed Mansfield streets melted slowly during the morning as temperatures rose slowly, but there were both rain and snow in prospect tonight, if the weather man can be believed.

Tomorrow will be marked, according to the forecast, by slowly rising temperatures.

From a high of 34 yesterday, the mercury dropped to 24 during the night, but at noon today was back to 32. The sleet storm occurred during the early morning hours and was as brief as it was thorough in coating streets and sidewalks. Despite the treacherous condition, no major traffic accidents were reported by police.

Schools Lead Observance of Lincoln's 129th Anniversary

Moved up one day, the observance of the 129th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln was held in Mansfield and Richland county schools today.

Banks and state liquor stores in the city will be closed all day tomorrow in respect to the Civil War president, but city and county offices and the postoffice will remain open as usual until noon. The usual Saturday schedule of mail deliveries will be maintained.

Most of the county and city schools paid special attention to Lincoln's life in classes today. But group gatherings were avoided, it was said, because of the

Contributed Because 'I Felt I Ought To,' Operator Who Sold to State, Says.

SAYS CRITICISM FEARED

Inquiry Takes New Turn as Court Approves Quiz, Davey Asks Expense Fund.

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS—A mine operator who sells coal to the state told the senate investigating committee today that he contributed to the Democratic state executive committee because "I felt I ought to."

Dow F. Shafer of Columbus, whose mine is near Nelsonville, testified that once he mailed the committee a company check for $50, and that the committee returned it with the explanation it could accept no checks from a corporation. He related that later he contributed $50 cash.

Fears Criticism.

Shafer expressed fear that he would be criticized by business associates for testifying and Chairman J. Ralph Seidner requested him to inform the investigating committee of any attempts to penalize him.

The committee was encouraged earlier with an endorsement from common pleas court and a prospect of more funds.

Seidner remarked that it was "quite possible" the investigators later would call back State Purchasing Agent Glenn A. Horn, who purges bids of a contempt charge yesterday by answering five disputed questions on orders of the court.

Gov. Martin L. Davey, who also instructed Horn to answer the questions, told newspaper men he would not be asked to testify before the board to give the investigating committee what funds it needed.

The senate voted several weeks ago to appropriate $40,000 for the investigation, but the house of representatives failed to give its approval to the bill.

The governor said that "since the alleged investigation is under way, I would like for it to go the limit."

The governor said he would not remove Horn "under any circumstances unless he was guilty of wrongdoing" and "the fact that he was taken off of his integrity" doesn't reflect on his integrity.

Earlier, Rep. Gus Kasch (D, Summit) introduced resolutions in the house asking the governor to

Sleet Fails To Slow Up Opening Of Bargain Days

While the mid-winter Community Bargain Days got away to a slow start this morning because of the sleet-covered streets, activities in the downtown shopping district increased as the morning passed, and by 11 a. m. the stores that were offering popular bargains in wearing apparel were well filled, many of them crowded.

Today and tomorrow mark two of the most important shopping days of the year in Mansfield. The Community Bargain event is sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association with approximately 50 stores taking part.

Special bargains are offered in winter merchandise, while hundreds of worthwhile bargains may be found in new merchandise.

Buses of the Mansfield Rapid Transit company were busy this morning as they carried shoppers to the downtown district without charge, and out of town cars took advantage of the parking courtesies extended to shoppers from the surrounding towns and rural sections.

Rev. Roller Talks About Lincoln At Association Meet

Rev. D. N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke on Lincoln yesterday at the regular meeting of the Brinkerhoff P. T. A. held at the school. The meeting was opened by F. O. Eckstein, president.

Rev. Roller read "Lincoln, The Man" by Edwin Markham. In his talk he stressed that though Lincoln was born in the cradle of adversity he rose to greater heights than any other man and thereby holds an unique place in history.

Lincoln is remembered, he pointed out, for his sympathy, understanding, kindness, faith, humor, high moral standards and mystery. His character was one that could not be understood. The school orchestra played two selections under the direction of Sigurd Jorgensen and then Mr. Jorgensen offered several violin solos. Bettie Gibson, fifth grade student, spoke on the newly organized safety council. The association will meet again March 10.

W. B. A. Pioneer Club Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. O. C. Brown, 103 South Diamond street, was hostess at a covered-dish dinner yesterday at which members of the W. B. A. Pioneer club celebrated the anniversary of their organization three years ago. The table was decorated with roses and a birthday cake.

Mrs. Ray Zebby, president, read a poem entitled "What It Means To Be a Pioneer." Each member gave a brief talk. The contests were won by Mrs. Elizabeth Alvord and Mrs. Charles Swain. The next meeting will be March 10 at the home of Mrs. William Bell, East Fourth street.

Moose Women Plan Party, Dinner Feb. 24

Women of the Moose met in regular session at the hall Wednesday night with senior regent, Mrs. Joseph Gresser, in charge. Following the committee reports it was announced that there will be a benefit bingo party Feb. 16 at the Moose hall.

The auxiliary will sponsor a family dinner and card party at the hall Feb. 24. Arrangements are being made by Mrs. Gresser and Mrs. Stella Beal. The next regular meeting will be Feb. 23 at the lodge hall.

VETERANS GROUP MEETS.

The Marquis Sewing circle and the Spanish War Veterans auxiliary held an all-day quilting at Memorial hall yesterday. A poke dinner was held at noon. Two comforters were completed to donate to charity. The regular meetings of these organizations will be Feb. 15 at Memorial hall.

The Prospect Mothers' club met at the school yesterday for the 10th anniversary tea. There were 30 present at the meeting and the past presidents and teachers were guests of the club.

Mrs. C. C. Rowe opened the program with a history of the club, from organization to present day, showing the growth of the club and its various activities. Mrs. E. D. Gibson played a violin solo. A contest was held and Mrs. Clyde Benninghoff won the prize. Tea was then served and Mrs. D. M. Caton and Mrs. J. C. Kilinger poured. Mrs. James Miller was chairman of the committee in charge of the tea. The next meeting will be March 10.

meeting at the Beveridge tea room Feb. 24. Mrs. George Berg and Mrs. Wayne McFarland won the prizes. The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Berg, 163 South Foster street.

Mrs. Peter Klein, 516 North Bowman street, entertained members of the Merry Mixers club at her home yesterday. Games were played and the prizes were won by Mrs. Russell Johns and Mrs. George Kuehling and a prize was also presented to Mrs. Ray Hunt, the club's guest. A personal shower was given for Mrs. Klein and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing. The next meeting will be Feb. 24 and Mrs. John McKinley, 74 North Bowman street, will be hostess.

The Needlecraft club met at the home of Mrs. Harry Balliet, South Adams street, with 11 members and one guest, Mrs. A. F. Thierline, present. Election of officers was held and Mrs. Howard Hoyce was elected president. The rest of the officers are Mrs. A. H. Au, vice president; Mrs. John Schnoor, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Arnold, treasurer. Mrs. Edward Hartnett, South Mulberry street, will be hostess for the next meeting, Feb. 24.

The Sew and Sew club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Gorsuch, 81 North Weldon avenue for a brief business meeting yesterday. The regular meeting of the club will be Feb. 15 at Mrs. Gorsuch's home.

MISS CARMELLA FUSCO HONORED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Frank Kmetz Entertains at Pre-Nuptial Affair; 18 Friends Present Bride-to-Be With Gifts at Party.

MRS. FRANK KMETZ, South Main street, was hostess last night to 18 guests when she entertained at a grocery shower in honor of Miss Carmella Fusco. Miss Fusco will become the bride of Clarence E. Dougherty Feb. 23 at St. Peter's Catholic church.

Contests were conducted and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Fred Mecurio and Mrs. Everett Trine. The hostess presented the bride-to-be with a luncheon set and Miss Rose Disalvo, guest from Pennsylvania, was presented with a guest gift.

The luncheon was served at a table carrying out the Washington birthday motif. Miniature brides dressed in gingham were used as favors.

Miss Fusco is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Fusco, Glenwood boulevard, and Mr. Dougherty is the son of Mrs. Arthur LeBerth, 146 Harker street. Another pre-nuptial affair is being planned for Miss Fusco by Mrs. LeBerth and Mr. Dougherty's sister, Mrs. Ralph Jordon, Monday evening.

CONDUCT PROGRAM.

The Women's Missionary society of the First Brethren church met at the home of Mrs. Harvey Beal, Beckley street, yesterday. A covered-dish dinner was held followed by the program consisting of devotionals led by Mrs. Howard Thoma. The subject of the devotionals was "Life With and Without God." Sewing dish cloths to be sold occupied members for the remainder of the afternoon. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Esther Williams, 96 Grant street, March 10.

LODGE MEETS THURSDAY.

Mrs. Frances Wolf was in charge of the meeting of the Pochontas lodge at Eagle's hall last night when 30 members were present. Bingo was played with prizes being won by Mrs. Cora Cramer and Mrs. Effie Keltner. The next meeting will be a birthday party, Feb. 25.

TRIBE GETS HEMSLEY

ROLIE HEMSLEY

Gives Up Sullivan, Hughes, and Cole For Rowdy St. Louis Catcher.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians long search for a recognized major league catcher star had ended today, but with its termination came another sizeable problem for peppy Oscar Vitt, the Tribe's new manager.

The Indians acquired Rolie Hemsley from the St. Louis Browns in a trade for Catcher Billy Sullivan, infielder Roy Hughes and Pitcher Ed Cole.

Hemsley is recognized as one of the best receivers in the majors if he is in playing condition. However, he has been shunted from team to team because of his failure to adhere to training rules.

Hemsley was waived out of the National league because of his "play boy" tendencies and was taken on by the Browns when Rogers Hornsby was managing the club.

Under the mailed-fist of Hornsby, the rollicking catcher attended strictly to business and was chosen a member of the American league all-star team in 1935. Last season Hemsley once again became a "problem child" and saw irregular service.

In giving up Sullivan, the Indians part with a player who has been shifted around so much that he had little chance to prove his real ability. Although he hit only .256 last year, Sullivan is recognized as a potentially great slugger. Hughes played in 104 games for the Indians last season and hit .277.

Cole is a 27-year-old right-hander the Tribe secured from Galveston of the Texas league. With that club he won 13 and lost the same number last season.

LOSES CONTROL OF PARK

O'Hara of Narragansett Track Ousted By Stockholders.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—(AP)—Water E. O'Hara lost control of the lucrative Narragansett Park race track today. The stockholders' faction seeking to oust him won 224,600 proxies of a total of 350,000 shares outstanding, and O'Hara resigned the $75,000 a year job as president and managing director.

Fist Swinging Absent As Marietta Wins.

MARIETTA—(AP)—Ohio university and Marietta basketball officials have found the method of keeping their athletes from fighting on the basketball court. They found last night that if the boys break bread together before the game they won't break rules during it.

The Ohio and the Mariettas, who had engaged in a bit of sawed fist-swinging in their two previous encounters, had dinner together before last night's contest which the pioneers won 35 to 31 and the game turned out to be an "Alphonse-and-Gaston" but thrill-packed affair.

Basketballers of the Rev. Billiards, aided by the Blue Goose team's upset victory over Benny's Hill Notes, held first place alone in the Senior white league by virtue of their victory over the Zeigler Independents, 22 to 18, at the Friendly House last night.

The Billiards, tied with the Zeigler Independents, 22 to 18, at the Friendly House last night, to grab a share of second place with its vanquished foe. In the other league, the Dinger Independents, led by Desterhalt who collected 22 points defeated the Athletic Supply, 34 to 30.

The leaders blanked the Zeigler Independents in the opening frame to snatch a 15 to 0 lead that was never threatened. The Cuemmen were ahead, 21 to 7, at the half.

Ashby Returns To Ring Here

Meets Magyar In Match on Monday's Mat Show.

The Quality club broke through today with another bout for Monday's card in the Armozy.

The principals of this latest addition to the program will be Joe Magyar and Spike Ashby. The latter returns to this vicinity after an absence of two years, during which time he enjoyed considerable success.

Magyar will be risking a clean slate in Mansfield when he opposes the hard bitten Portland grappler. Though as the proverbial nail, "Spike" is well remembered for his sometimes "borderline" work in local rings.

Wrestling for two out of three falls, Ashby and Magyar will share top honors with Walter Stratton and Joe Montana, but the latter contest must rate a shade higher, nevertheless.

DEHNER STILL HOLDS LEAD

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lewis (Puck) Dehner may not play another game of basketball for Illinois this season, but shaking him out of first place in the Big Ten individual scoring standing probably will take time.

Dehner was declared scholastically ineligible last week and missed Monday's game with Purdue, but his 97 points for six games still left him in possession of the individual leadership. The big Illinois center muffed a psychology course, but will return to the sharp-shooting competition Saturday against Minnesota if successful in a special examination.

CHARLEY BAXTER QUITS CARD BECAUSE OF SMALL CROWD.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Promoters of a small fight show at Moose hall last night reported Charley Baxter, Columbus lightweight, refused to go through with a scheduled feature bout with Hank Pershing, Cleveland, because of the small crowd of 404 paid admissions. Tuxer Rosey Gray, Massillon featherweight, defeated Midge Maxine, Cleveland, in the semi-final bout.

CULDS OFF LUNEP BOIT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Plans for Max Schmeling to meet Steve Dudas in a third "unlucky" bout before reaching Joe Louis for the heavyweight title in June were abandoned today. Unwilling to risk a Schmeling defeat, Promoter Mike Jacobs cabled Maxie to refrain from any more bouts before meeting Louis.

TYGERS IDLE TONIGHT, BUT PERFORM SATURDAY

N. C. O. County, Twin-Valley and Bi-County League Games Plentiful.

TONIGHT will be another off night for the cagers of Mansfield high school, but they will return to action Saturday when they entertain Columbus East at the Tiger lair.

Coach Russ Murphy put his charges through a series of strenuous drills this week to prepare them for East's invasion. The Tygers were scheduled to meet Willard last Tuesday, but the game was postponed at the request of Willard officials because of the outbreak of smallpox here.

TWO GAMES ON COUNTY LEAGUE SCHEDULE

ONLY two games will be offered on the Richmond county league program tonight. Ontario plays at Bellville and Lexington performs at Butler. The Madison-Lucas game has been cancelled because of the smallpox outbreak.

The defending champion Ontarians can clinch a tie for the league championship tonight, and can take the laurels outright Saturday when they close their regular schedule at home Saturday against Union.

SHILOH SEEKS 11TH STRAIGHT TONIGHT

SHILOH high school's undefeated cagers will be after their 11th straight victory tonight when they entertain Plymouth in a Twin-Valley league game. Shiloh clinched the league title last week. Adario plays at Greenwich and New Haven performs at North Fairfield in the other league tussles tonight.

The headline game in the N. C. O. conference sends Bucyrus against Marion. The Redmen are the present league leaders. Mr. Vernon invades Shelby and Ashland is host to Galton in the other tilts.

Today's Bi-County league program takes the front-running Simpson junior high club of Mansfield to Perrysville and Shelby to Hayesville. Hedges is not scheduled for a league game.

RANDOM SHOTS

Mansfield Fans Anxious to Learn Whether Red Sox Will Return With Ball Club.

By OSCAR RUMBL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

JUDGING from the number of letters received by this department, Mansfield fans are anxious to be represented in the Ohio State league again next summer with a Boston Red Sox affiliation.

The letters ask the same question. They want to know whether the Red Sox will return to Mansfield.

Unfortunately, this question cannot be answered immediately. Frank A. Voegelé, who served as president of the club, has conferred with Billy Evans, who directs the Boston club's farm operations, but no definite word has been offered.

It is very likely that Evans will delay his decision to whether the city will offer any inducement.

If Mansfield fails to respond with a proposition to encourage the return of the Red Sox, Evans will drop the franchise, it is believed.

The Boston club took it on the chin aplenty as it provided a championship team for Mansfield last year, and it is very evident that it does not care to experience the same fate if it operates here again next year.

It looks very much like the next move it up to Mansfield.

MANSHIP AGAIN HOLDS UP LEAGUE.

OUTSIDE of Mansfield and Marion, the circuit is set for next summer. President Harry Smith, who was a visitor in the city yesterday, stated.

Tiffin, Findlay, Fostoria and Fremont will operate under the same agreements as last year. Fremont attempted to obtain a new affiliation, but failing to gain any satisfaction in negotiations with representatives of other major league clubs, it has renewed an agreement with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Marion franchise is still owned by the Thompson estate, but it will not operate the club next season. Smith has been notified.

A couple of National league clubs have indicated that they are interested in obtaining the Marion franchise, and Smith does not expect any trouble in straightening out the Presidents for the forthcoming campaign.

The league is again faced with the problem of Mansfield, and there is very little that it can do until some definite decision is presented to the circuit.

WEIMAN FIRST CHOICE?

Crisler's Assistant, Not Peden, Is Stated For Tiger Job.

PRINCETON, N. J.—(AP)—Speculation on a successor to Fritz Crisler as Princeton's head football coach today placed Elton (Tad) Weiman at the head of the list. It was understood that Weiman had rejected Crisler's offer to accompany him to Michigan as assistant.

Reports that Crisler had recommended Don Peden, Ohio university coach, to succeed him here were denied by athletic officials.

ASHLAND LOSES DUTKA

ASHLAND—(AP)—Harry Dutka, sophomore, of Parma, was lost to the Ashland college basketball team today for the remainder of the season. He was ruled ineligible because of scholastic deficiency. Dutka was the team's leading scorer.

Luisetti, Stanford.

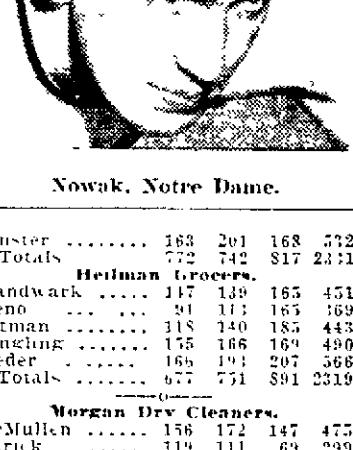

Hyatt, Pittsburgh.

Di Bernardi, Kansas.

Wooden, Purdue.

Nowak, Notre Dame.

Wooden, White, Carney and Williams Represent Big Ten on "Dream" Club.

By ORLO ROBERTSON, Associated Press Sports Writer.

PRESENTING the coach's dream—an all-time, all-America college basketball squad selected by the Associated Press in collaboration with a number of the country's leading coaches and officials.

From the hotbeds of the sport comes this combination of sharpshooters, brilliant floor men and sensational guards. It is composed of stars who burned up the boards as far back as 1919.

Forwards are the current sensation, Stanford's Angelo (Hank) Luisetti; Charles (Chuck) Hyatt, Pittsburgh's ace of 10 years ago; Ashworth (Cot) Thompson, of Montana State's brilliant Golden Bobcats of 1929-29, and Chuck Carney, a star at Illinois in 1919-20-21.

Forest (Red) di Bernardi, who rose to his greatest heights in semi-pro ranks after attending Kansas and Westminster (Mo.) college, and Paul Nowak, Notre Dame senior, are the centers.

Burdette gives the all-star squad a touch of the guards—Johnny Wooden of the Boilemakers' 1929-30-31 teams, and Don White, who played 10 years before. The other two are Mac Kinsbrunner of the St. John's (New York) "wonder team" of 10 years ago, and Rolie Williams, Wisconsin's great guard of the early twenties.

Williams Made the Assists.

PICK your starting lineup from this versatile squad. Williams now coach at Iowa, is the only one who was not rated as a great shot, but he was a marvelous dribbler and as a feeder helped to make Wisconsin forwards famous.

Luisetti, Hyatt and Wooden earned their positions without argument. Luisetti needs no introduction for, as Adolph Rupp of Kentucky said: "Any player who can score 50 points in one game against a major team like Duquesne must be outstanding." The Italian's fame has spread from coast to coast.

Hyatt has had few equals and he is still going strong in semi-pro competition. H. C. Carlson, his coach at Pitt, describes Chuck as "tall, fast, a dead shot, a good floor man—the greatest player I ever saw."

Wooden earned his recognition not only because he could guard with the best of them but also because he was a fine shot and one of the best dribblers in the game.

Carney in the words of Nick Kearns of Chicago, "was the most polished player I've seen in my 19 years of officiating in the Big Ten."

Di Bernardi was "lazy." He had the habit of loafing and then suddenly breaking loose with a scoring streak that would send his team's score skyrocketing within a few minutes. Nowak is just the opposite. He is at his best setting up the pivot and resulting plays. He never stops trying to drive through the enemy's defense.

Kinsbrunner, a fine play maker, good dribbler and consistent scorer in his college days, has gone on to prove himself further in professional competition.

"Having White in the game was the same as having a playing coach," said Kearns. "He was the smartest player I've ever watched."

INDOOR

THEATER

JACKIE COOPER'S in "The Development of a Star," for the first time, is changing from small boy to big boy roles on the screen without the usual interlude for teeth and gangly legs. In "White Hammers," another child star that is growing up, in a puppy love romance. For the first time Jackie is using make up and being taught to stand still and think instead of screwing up his boyish features as he always did in the Wallace Beery pictures. He is an inch taller than he was in "Boys of Three Streets," and three inches taller than in "The Devil Is A Sissy." His mother says that when he used to go on a personal appearance tour, boys of his age used to cluster around the stage door. Now his admirers are mostly 15 and 16 year old girls. Which means that he is really growing up.

Child Players.
Speaking of child players, there are two new ones in "Wise Girl," the Miriam Hopkins-Ray Millard romance at the Ohio, and they are clever youngsters. One is Betty Mariani, 10, and the other is Marianna St. John, 12, who play the two orphans who are the storm center of the plot. There was a time when a girl this age wouldn't have had a look-in in pictures, but since Deanna Durbin's sensational rise to stardom, all studios are looking for young girls of any age as a box office possibility. In the story of "Wise Girl," Miss Hopkins attempts to aid her father in getting the children away from their charming but very penniless uncle.

Skiing Glorified.
Probably all this skiing and skating and coasting in the present crop of pictures date back to Sonja Henie's first picture, "On a Million," but at any rate, winter sports are having a run in pictures. They were glorified in "Thin Ice," "She Met Him in Paris" and now in "Paradise for Three" at the Madison. Florence Rice and Robert Young, not to mention Frank Morgan and Edna May Oliver, romp through the snow covered mountains of Switzerland in this comedy of mistaken identities. The supporting cast includes such comedy makers as Reginald Owen, Herman Bing and Henry Hull who first distinguished himself on the stage in the role of Lester Jetter in "Tobacco Road."

"The Feud of the Trail."
Tom Tyler moves into the screen of the Majestic theater today in the western, "The Feud of the Trail," one of the features on the double bill for the balance of the week. In the film Tyler plays the role of a cattle protective association's secret operator, ordered to clean up a gang of rustlers and outlaws who have been preying on a group of ranchers. The hair-raising methods he uses to work his way into the gang as a member affords some interesting entertainment. Harlene Wood and Lyle McKea support the western star. Don Terry, Mary Russell and Thurston Hall top the cast of "Squadron of Honor," the second feature. The picture depicts the activities of a mass man-hunt after a member of a legion parade is killed in broad daylight.

"Heart of the Rockies."
Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune portray the "three mesquiteers" in "Heart of the Rockies" at the Ritz theater.

today. The story revolves around a "war" between the mesquiteers and the United States forest rangers. How they work out their little difficulties provides a thrilling climax. The Satevepost story character, Mr. Moto, makes his first screen appearance in "Think Fast, Mr. Moto," the No. 2 feature. Peter Lore plays the title role with Virginia Field, Thomas Beck, Sig Rumann and J. Carroll Naish in the principal supporting roles. The film tells the tale of the tireless efforts of the detective to track down the members of a crafty gang of international mugglers.

BERLIN DENIES ARMY RUMORS

Holds Reports Purge Led to Rebellious Movement Was Spread Deliberately.

was asserted.
These sections of the country are populated by the wealthy Junker land-owning aristocracy from which the army has drawn many of its highest officials and where sentiment still leans toward the past glories of the Hohenzol-lern monarchist era.

Leaders Angered.
Nazi and government spokesman expressed anger at the rumors regarding Germany which flooded Europe, and hotly denied all suggestions that Hitler is fighting against possible revolution.

Telephone calls kept pouring into government offices in Berlin, and government officials replied again and again:

"No, that is not true."
Each time they said that, it meant they had been queried about some new rumor spreading like wild-fire outside the reich's borders.

Foreign diplomatic quarters here maintained an atmosphere of skepticism toward rumors and denials alike. They were not convinced that Hitler and his reorganized army strengthened dictatorship are finding smooth sailing.

There were still indications partially admitted—that the army command is still giving the Nazi regime some trouble because of the recent dismissals of former War Minister Werner von Blom-berg and Commander-in-Chief Werner von Fritsch, along with 13 other powerful generals.

Nevertheless, here in Berlin, where life pursued its usual course, it appeared that most of the reports and rumors abroad were either highly exaggerated or completely without foundation.

ALL EUROPE ANXIOUS
LONDON—(INS)—All continental Europe and the British Isles turned anxious eyes toward Nazi Germany today, seeking information as to what is happening there and what caused the flood of rumors.

Informal circles here were inclined to discount the categorical denials of unusual events issued by the Berlin government in view of the tense uneasiness that persisted along the reich's major frontiers.

This feeling of tension and strain was increased by indications that Chancellor Hitler is in the midst of a drive to weed out and uproot all anti-Nazi elements in the German army—long a stronghold of the old and potent Prussian aristocracy.

the previous reports and apprehensions persisted, up to 10:20

CROWD ATTENDS COOKING SCHOOL

O. P. S. Sponsors One-Day Session
At Moose Hall.

Women were turned away from the Moose hall yesterday when the crowd attending the Ohio Public Service cooking school overflowed to all of the rooms of the building.
The school was sponsored by the company and Westinghouse dealers in Mansfield, and was conducted by Miss Mary Johnson, home economist of the Westinghouse Institute, assisted by Miss Irene Oberlin, home economist of the Ohio
Public Service company.

The proper use of small electric appliances was demonstrated and discussed, and instructions were given on how to cook an entire meal in one unit.

BEDSIDE COURT FOR 14 'DOOMED'

Illinois Judge Hears Story of 14 Women Slowly Dying of Radium Poisoning.

not filed within six months after contraction of disease. Radium poisoning, the women charge, takes three or more years to develop to a point where physicians can recognize it.

Gov. Henry Horner signed a new law in 1936. The company, however, had withdrawn from Illinois and was set up under a new corporation in New York. Its officials left a $10,000 bond with the industrial commission—the only funds available for payment of compensation.

Mrs. Donohue testified that she was discharged by the company when her limping became "noticeable" to other workers.

"Even now," she said, "my body gives off a faint luminous glow when surrounded by darkness."

She worked for the company from 1922 until 1931, when the dangers of radium poisoning first were learned. Then the company ordered medical examinations for employees at its Ottawa plant.

She testified she overheard a physician ask a "Mr. Reed," whom she described as plant manager, why results of the examination
were not published.

"If we did that there would be a riot," she said Reed replied.
"We didn't work with actual radium," she said. "We used a preparation of radium-active salts,
a by-product of radium."

"Later we learned that just to breathe in some of the dust from which the dial paint was made was deadly, but when I was there one of the girls used to sit at a table with a box of dust in front of her and just fiddle it out."

"The radium paint was mixed in small saucers. Using a camel hair brush, you had to have a fine point and practically all the girls had the habit of wetting the brush with their tongues and lips."

"That's the way this terrible, terrible poison got into our systems."

remove Horn and Joseph R. Malden, liquor enforcement supervisor in the Canton district. The house adjourned until Feb. 28
without acting on them.

Overcharged $7,000?
Members of the investigating committee have asserted that a Cleveland coal company overcharged the state approximately $7,000 on coal orders given it by Horn.

The governor said he had not
"gotten into" the case of Malden, who was suspended for "padding"
his expense accounts and then was re-instated.

He asserted he thought the witnesses told a "terrible falsehood" when they testified that Charles S. Leasure, former secretary of the governor, "laughed at us" when they carried their protests to him.

Common Pleas Judge John R.
King upheld the committee yesterday when he held it had not unlawfully detained Horn and ordered him to answer questions asked by the committee.

Horn had obtained his release on a writ of habeas corpus when a senate sergeant-at-arms arrested him Tuesday on a charge of contempt.

In answering the questions in dispute, testified that mine owners seeking state coal orders were not sent to anyone outside his office for endorsement; that he gave contracts to certain jobbers because he thought it was "the right thing to do," and that jobbers received perhaps a larger percentage of coal business because many small mines did not have sales organizations.

The purchasing agent originally refused to answer the questions without the advice of an attorney.

EIGHT NOVELS
ON LIBRARY'S
NEW BOOK LIST

'The Dangerous Years,' One of Most Interesting, Commemtary on Modern Life.

Eight books of fiction are on the list of new books this week at Public Library, with Gilbert
Frankau's "The Dangerous Years," one of the most interesting.

This is a brilliant commentary on modern life, with figures that are familiarly human. In this novel, as in "Three Englishmen," Mr. Frankau builds a lasting monument to English traditions of honor and fine conduct.

"The South Winds of Love" by Compton MacKenzie is a panorama of the courageous, tragic war years and the two years immediately preceding them. Action and adventure are the keynotes of this story, whether in America, or the Russian revolution or the Aegean Islands.

"Bitter Glory" by Leon Thornber, is the love story of Chopin and George Sand. The devotion of the stocky, unattractive woman for the delicate, fastidious man, was a strange romance, yet it lasted for many years and has made a place for itself in the history of the world's great romances. In the background of the story are many famous persons of that period.

'Tovarich' in List.

Other fiction on the list is "Man
With The Tattooed Face" by Burton; "Obstinate Captain Samson," by Douglas; "Calamity Jane of Deadwood Gulch," Hueston; and "Not For Love" by Miller. Then there is "Tovarich" by Jacques Duval, which was made into a play by Robert Sherwood, and which tells a charming story of two Russian emigres who find happiness and a livelihood as maid and butler in a wealthy French family.

With all of the interest that is shown by the modern woman in cooking and adventures in cookery, there should be considerable interest in "The Country Cook Book" by the Browns, which is a collection of basic, old-fashioned American recipes for getting the most out of raw materials found in the country, and also the best ways of canning and preserving them.

Seven new books on gardening are being added this week. "As One Gardener to Another" is Mrs.
Lucy M. Ellis' book on how to get the most out of flowers and gardens of all kinds. A small volume containing planting and growing directions for a herb garden is "Herbs and Earth" by Henry Beston Sheahan. "Gardening Indoor" by Fredrick Fry Rockwell and Esther Grayson points out the many possibilities in this type of gardening, and gives details of selecting plants.

One for Rose Growers.
For rose growers there is "Rose Manual" by Jean Nicolas, and
"How To Grow Roses" by Mc-Farland and Pyle, which is a complete handbook. The other two are "Mexican Plants for American Gardens" by Matschat; and
"The Book of Water Gardening."

Non-fiction this week also includes "Short Story Writing for Profit," by Blackiston; "Mexico:
a Revolution by Education," Sanchez; "Earth and Its History," Bradley; "How to Write and Sell Film Stories," Marion; "Search for Truth in Russia," Cantine;
"Augustus," Buchanan; "Counter-Attack in Spain," by Sender.

Four books which deal with the subject of Monday's lecture in the Institute of International Understanding at Senior high school auditorium which will be
"Organizing For World Peace," are "America Gropes For Peace," by Harold E. Hinton; "Must We Go to War?" by Kirby Page;
"Ends and Means" by Aldous Huxley, and "What Is Ahead of Us?" by George Douglas Howard
Cole and others.

SKUNKS SETTLE
IN FRISCO AREA

Take Up Residence In Fashionable District In Oakland.

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—Residents of the fashionable Upper Park boulevard district, in a hilly section overlooking San Francisco bay, have appealed to the city to rid the neighborhood of skunks.

One of the wooded canyons nearby has long been the home of a few skunks, H. G. Porter, a householder, explained, but recently the animals have multiplied rapidly. They now are invading residence property, he complained.

TRAFFIC SAFETY LEADER SPEAKS

National Secretary of 'Not Over 50 Club' to Address Rotarians, Optimists.

Lincoln H. Lippincott, national secretary of the "Not Over 50 Club" and member of the Northwestern university faculty, will address the Mansfield Rotary and Optimist clubs at luncheon meetings Tuesday and Wednesday.

Speaking on "Wider Margins of Safety," Lippincott will address the Rotary club Tuesday noon and the Optimists Wednesday noon. Both meetings will be at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. G. J. Kochender is chairman for the Rotary meeting.

Lippincott has been in the insurance business and educational work for the past 18 years and has addressed civic clubs, patriotic organizations and school groups throughout the eastern half of the nation on traffic safety measures.

Organized under the direction of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company of Chicago, the only requirement of the "Not Over 50 club" is that its members keep their driving speed below 50 miles an hour as a measure to reduce traffic accidents.

A non-profit organization which collects no dues, the club has a membership of 162,296 in the United States and Canada and 2,325 in Ohio.

Members of the club receive buttons denoting membership and a free subscription to a magazine pertaining to the activities of the club and the progress of safety programs.

NEW WPA FUND TO GIVE HALF MILLION JOBS

$250,000,000 Request Would Save Work For 450,000 Others, Officials Say.

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON—A half million persons will be added to relief rolls if congress approves the $250,000,000 appropriation asked yesterday by President Roosevelt, deputy WPA Administrator Aubrey Williams told the house appropriations subcommittee today.

Rep. Taber of New York, ranking Republican, indicated he would balk plans to rush action on the fund by calling for detailed information from administration sources.

Charging that the relief administration is a "racket," Taber said the administration has diverted millions of dollars from relief funds.

"If there were honest, efficient administration of relief funds there wouldn't be any need of more money," said Taber. "Millions of dollars of money voted by congress for the unemployed are being diverted by the Roosevelt administration to pay the salaries of political employees. The money is diverted to bureaus for ordinary expenses."

"Some departments, such as the treasury and justice departments, have nearly 50 per cent of salaries of politically-appointed employees paid out of relief funds. The unemployed don't get the money."

2 BOUND OVER

Richland Youths Plead Not Guilty To Chicken Theft.

Two accused chicken thieves, arraigned in municipal court today on charges of breaking and entering, pleaded not guilty and were bound over to the grand jury under $1,500 each.

Alvin Guthrie, 21, R. D. 2, Shelby, and Paul Rhodes, 18, of near Shelby, were arrested by Sheriff E. P. Long and Deputy Glenn Humphrey, Tuesday night near Guthrie's home after they had allegedly broken into a chicken coop at Rhodes' home and stolen several chickens.

Police said both youths have been before the courts on previous occasions on the same charge. Guthrie having been released Dec. 27 after serving out a sentence of 30 days and a $30 fine and costs. Rhodes was paroled from juvenile court last May when arrested on a similar charge.

URGES BAN ON SEA SIT-DOWNS

Sen. Guffey Submits New Maritime Wage Legislation.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) proposed today to outlaw sit-down strikes by seamen and extend minimum wage provisions to all ships flying the American flag.

He made the proposal in broad new legislation which he said would provide "amicable settlement of all disputes and to promote peace in our maritime industry."

Guffey's proposals were offered as amendments to the merchant marine act as a substitute for proposals advanced by Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the maritime commission.

100-CAR MAN

Mansfield Ford Salesman Attends Cleveland Meeting.

James Clapper, salesman at the R. E. Moorhead company, attended a meeting of the 100 car club for Ford salesmen in the Cleveland district, yesterday in Cleveland.

The meeting was held at Hotel Cleveland, and was attended by 50 salesmen from the district. There are 900 salesmen in the district. Each 100 car salesman was given a bonus check by the company. A dinner and program was given for the salesmen.

CITY BUYS PIPE AND LIMESTONE

Street Material Contracts Are Awarded Rush Brothers and Voegel Company.

The city board of control announced today that it had awarded two contracts for a part of the various street materials and supplies to be used by the city this year.

The contract for 10 cars of vitrified sewer pipe of various sizes and length went to the Rush Brothers Coal company, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styer said. The Rush Brothers' bid was accepted over four other firms because they guaranteed immediate delivery to the WPA sewer projects of the pipe that is necessary to keep nearly 240 WPA employees on sewer extension jobs. All the bids were identical, and prices were sealed on a percentage off the list price on the various sizes and lengths.

The other bidders, all local firms, were the Lomax Coal company, Voegel Company, M. L. Brannan Brothers company and Kallmerten and Baer.

Contract for 20 cars of limestone was awarded the Voegel company whose bids were the same as five other local firms who entered proposals. The contract calls for grade "A" limestone at $1.20 a ton, and a grade "A" No. 6, limestone at the price of $1.30 a ton.

Other proposals were entered by the Lomax Coal company, Rush Brothers, M. L. Brannan company, Kallmerten and Baer, and the Builders Supply company.

A Farmer's Diary

Feb. 10.

TODAY a raw wind froze the bare ground half an inch. Mud roads looked rough and uninviting. The surface had icicles of dirt which stood perpendicular, like myriads of little pillars. They crumbled or were pressed into the softer earth below, when stepped upon.

This afternoon I saw my neighbor plowing. I went over to look at closer range. His iron gray team was fat and unused to working. Their coats were damp and, where the heavy harness touched the back and flank, white foam lather appeared.

"Fine day for plowing," I said. "Yes, it is—but I can't do much more today. The grays are much luckered out. They were a frisky pair when I started. One more round, and we'll be headed for the barn." The horses pricked up their ears as if they heard.

He placed his knees upon the crossbar of the plow handles, raised the double and single trees some 20 inches, using the plow as the fulcrum. The team turned, by force of habit. The farmer released his weight upon the handles and the plow slid easily into the soil, guided by expert hands.

I watched the plow move through the stubborn sod and heard the colter tear the roots apart. It laid the six inch furrow slice to the left in ripples, like a dark shining serpent. Cocoons of grubs were turned out, or cut in half at the bottom of the furrow. The dirty roots of sweet clover and yellow dock were also cut in two, and oozed their life blood at the furrow's edge in tiny drops.

What a homely charm the picture has—the sturdy plowman and his iron gray team, busy turning sod under a wintry sky! What faith we farmers have—plowing now for harvest eight months hence! —By C. A. B.

STILL STORMY

California In Midst of 16th Day of Rain, Snow, Gales.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Rain and snow deluged northern California today—the 16th consecutive day of storms which have caused eight deaths, millions of dollars damage, and shattered weather bureau records.

It was the longest rainy period in the more than 50 years records have been kept here. But tourist bureaus kept on inviting all America to visit "sunny California."

What's left of California's sunshine has become the exclusive property of Los Angeles and its environs, temporarily (San Franciscoans hope).

Most of the deaths and virtually all of the damage, heaviest in agricultural areas, were caused by Wednesday's winds which blew over California with the force of a hurricane.

NOT JILTED, SAYS YOUNG FARMER

UNIONVILLE, Conn.—(INS)—Unaffected by pressure of her relatives which nearly ruined their May-December romance, John J. Lorenick, 22-year-old farmer, today denied his 70-year-old sweetheart had jilted him.

John, however, admitted receiving a letter from his septuagenarian sweetheart calling the whole thing off. The youth said he understood this letter had been written after Miss Pieper was subjected to pressure of relatives to give him up.

ART GROUP TO BE ORGANIZED

Adult Class to Be Formed at High School Next Week.

A meeting to organize an art study group for adults will be held Wednesday evening at the Senior high school.

This group is being organized by Miss Marjorie Campbell, an instructor at the school, and will be under supervision. Any adult or young people, out of school, interested in art study, is invited to join this group.

The group will meet once a week in the art room at the school.

KIDNAPERS FREE INDIANA BANKER

Wife, Son Also Released in Unsuccessful Robbery Attempt.

BURNETT'SVILLE, Ind.—(INS)—A gang of four men early today kidnaped and later released the president of the Burnettsville State bank, his wife and son, in a daring but unsuccessful attempt to rob the bank.

Held as hostages by the gang for several hours between midnight and dawn this morning were John C. Guffey, 77, the bank president; his wife, 75, and their son, George, 42, a cashier in the bank.

The bandits obtained approximately $160 from the Duffeys and their son and a few dollars found in the cash drawers of the bank. They were unable to get at the bank's deposits because of a time lock on the vault which does not open until 9 o'clock.

SOVIET REFUSES

Rejects China's Pleas For Aid In War With Japs.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Reliable foreign sources said today that Soviet Russia had refused a Chinese plea for large scale assistance in the war against Japan. They arrested Sun Fo, son of the late Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, had pleaded China's cause at Moscow, but that Russia turned him down because of unwillingness to flirt single-handedly with the possibility of a Russian Japanese clash through active aid to China.

This report of Russia's stand came as Chinese fought to keep eight Japanese columns from closing in on the central China corridor along the Lungai railway, which lies between Japanese dominated portions of North China and the Yantze river valley.

After weeks of bitter fighting along the frozen, marshy banks of the Hwai river, southern border of the corridor, Japanese reported their three main columns had advanced.

EXPENSE BILL APPROVED

COLUMBUS, (UP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today had authorized his office to pay $146.50 to E-Senator James Metzgerbaum, attorney for the senate's graft investigating committee, for expenses.

Mrs. Sherman Fisher, 336 West Longview avenue, who has been ill for the past five weeks, is reported to be improving.

HOLDS NATION STILL 'SOUND'

Kiwanis Speaker Says All U. S. Needs Is Steady Head, Less Talk of Hard Times.

Offering a philosophy for curing business depressions, Earl W. Hodges, New York, personnel director of the Cities Service company, told members of the Mansfield Kiwanis club yesterday to "keep your chins up and apply yourselves to community and civic work."

Hodges, who spoke before the Kiwanis club here 10 years ago, addressed the club's luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

"Despite the ups and downs of the past few years, the country is still solid economically," Hodges said, "and all that is needed is for the nation to keep a steady head and quit sitting around just talking about the hard times."

The present depression, he pointed out, is not the worst in history, as many persons believe. He cited numerous other times when the nation apparently was "on the rocks" and when pessimists predicted the country would never recover.

Yesterday's meeting at which J. A. Herbert was program chairman, attracted the largest attendance in several years, club officials said.

HOLD FIRESTONE FUNERAL TODAY

Rubber King to Be Buried on Birthday Anniversary of Edison.

AKRON—(AP)—Friends of Harvey S. Firestone, who molded a world-wide rubber empire, gathered at the Firestone mansion for his funeral today.

By a quirk of fate, the funeral date fell on the 91st birthday anniversary of Firestone's crony, Thomas Alva Edison, a native of Milan, O.

Firestone, Edison, Henry Ford and John Burroughs, the naturalist, enjoyed vacations together for many years. A place was held today for the automobile magnate, only surviving member of the group.

Firestone died Monday at his Miami Beach, Fla., winter home. He was 69.

RFC LOANS FOR BUSINESS NEAR, CAPITAL HEARS

Roosevelt Is Planning Aid to 'Little Fellows,' Jones Statement Indicates.

(By United Press) WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt will authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to resume lending operations as the administration's first gesture toward aiding small business, RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones indicated today.

Jones disclosed he was opposed to easing the collateral requirements of the RFC as demanded by delegates to the recent little business congress, but said:

"I think that when the effect of these business conferences which have been held in recent weeks is considered, the president may decide to have us take another try at making industrial loans."

Simultaneously, Jones announced that at the request of the president, the RFC had organized the "National Mortgage Association of Washington," to invest in first mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration. He said that pending the creation of similar additional corporations, the Washington association would serve as a national basis.

Buyers From Banks.

It will work this way: The association will buy from banks first mortgages insured by the F.H.A. This bank will be provided with funds to meet any additional credit demands for construction purposes. The RFC, at the same time, will sell debentures against the first mortgages it acquires and will have additional money available to continue its operations. It can issue debentures up to 20 times the amount of its capitalization, $200,000,000.

In his message revising the 1938 fiscal year budget estimates last October, Mr. Roosevelt said that he had decided against further loan commitments by the RFC. The RFC has continued making loans, however, to applicants who already were indebted to the corporation but who needed additional funds because of "emergency situations."

Jones said he did not believe new machinery would be set up to provide loans to small businesses.

"I think we've got all the authority that's needed to make loans to industry," he said in discussing Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper's statement that Jones was studying the problem of financing small businesses and would make "definite suggestions" within a week or 10 days.

PASSENGER HURT NEAR MT. GILEAD

Cleveland In Hospital Here After Car Turns Over.

Charles Gerak, 40, of Cleveland, was confined to General hospital today with injuries received in an auto accident at 6:30 p. m. Thursday on route 42, three miles north of Mt. Gilead.

Gerak was a passenger in a car driven by Frank Myers, 28, also of Cleveland. Gerak suffered back injuries and abrasions, according to Corporal Scott Radcliffe of the State Highway patrol. His condition was reported as fair by hospital attendants. Myers suffered only minor body bruises.

Myers told Corporal Radcliffe that the car turned over a number of times after striking a soft shoulder on a curve in the road. The two men were enroute to Columbus.

SWORD ELECTED AT CONVENTION

County Engineer Named Secretary of State Society.

Howard C. Sword, Richland county engineer, was elected secretary of the county engineers' section of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at the annual convention of the society which closed today in Columbus. Noah H. Truax, Logan county engineer, was named president of the county engineers' division.

Edward V. Cantwell of Columbus is the new head of the state professional engineers' society, while Nelson J. Bell of Dayton and Frank C. Toles of Cleveland were named vice presidents and E. A. Lawrence of Columbus, treasurer.

Attending the convention with County Engineer Sword was Clyde Moore, county highway maintenance engineer.

INCOME TAX IN NUTSHELL

NO. 16 Capital Gains And Losses.

Section 117 of the Revenue Act of 1936 deals with the manner or method of taking into account in computing net income gains and losses resulting from the sale or exchange of capital assets as computed and recognized under sections 111, 112, and 113.

Section 117 (a) provides that in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation only the following percentages of the gain or loss recognized upon the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be taken into account in computing net income: 100 per cent if the capital asset has been held for not more than 1 year; 80 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 1 year but not for more than 2 years; 60 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 2 years but not for more than 5 years; 40 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 5 years but not for more than 10 years; 30 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 10 years.

Section 117 (b) defines capital assets as property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), expressly excluding therefrom stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business. In this definition the length of time the asset was held by the taxpayer is disregarded.

Section 117 (c) provides the rules for determining the period for which a capital asset has been held. These provisions are in general to the effect that, where property is acquired in an exchange and the property so acquired retains the old basis on which to compute gain or loss or where property is acquired from another person and the property retains the same basis on which to compute gain or loss as it had in the hands of the person from whom it was so acquired, the period for which the property disposed of in the exchange or the period during which the property was held by such former owner is also to be included in determining the period for which the property is held for the purpose of section 117 (a).

Section 117 (d) provides a very important limitation affecting all taxpayers (including corporations, except with respect to banks and trust companies), that is, that losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed only to the extent of $2,000 plus the gains from such sales or exchanges.

Section 117 (e) provides that gains or losses from "short sales" of property, and gains or losses attributable to the failure to exercise privileges or options to buy or sell property, shall be considered as gains or losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets. In the former the percentage of the gain or loss to be taken into account shall be computed according to the period for which the property delivered was held. In the latter the gains or losses shall be considered as arising from sales or exchanges of capital assets held for 1 year or less.

Section 117 (f) provides that amounts received upon the retirement of corporate bonds and similar evidences of corporate indebtedness, with interest coupons or in registered form, shall be considered as amounts received in exchange therefor, thus giving to any gain or loss thereby resulting to the holder the status of capital gain or loss, as the case may be.

CAROL BECOMES NEW DICTATOR

Rumanian King Takes New Role as Cabinet Quits; Army Powers Expanded.

for the good of the fatherland." At 6 a. m. today's issue of the Royal Gazette was issued.

It was a special issue, to tell the people as they started a new day, that they had also started on a new political era.

It: (1) Established a royal military dictatorship; (2) placed the civil administration of all Rumania under the army; (3) extended a state of siege, hitherto existent in a few provinces, throughout the country; (4) appointed 68 new provincial prefects, 30 of them army colonel or lieutenant colonels; empowered first civil authorities, then the army to search any house at will; (5) empowered the army to demand immediate surrender of firearms and ammunition; (6) authorized a censorship; (7) empowered the army to forbid or dissolve any public meeting.

Newest of Strong Men.

Thus the one-time "madcap prince" who set an example for the Duke of Windsor by renouncing his right to the throne for love, who had stayed faithfully with the woman for whom he did so despite persistent, angry efforts to separate them, emerged as the newest of Europe's strong men.

Peasants, townspeople and politicians alike, as they gathered in groups this morning to discuss the events of the night, paid tribute to the king. They saw him as having solved by a bold stroke a grave governmental crisis; many credited him with engineering the climactic events of the crisis which culminated in his own assumption of supreme power.

Octavian Goga's anti-Jewish cabinet met late yesterday and decided to resign. Ministers remained in session while Goga went to the royal palace to submit his resignation. King Carol accepted it—in fact, he had already picked the patriarch Cristeanu, it appeared, and his collaborators.

(Advice received at Vienna asserted that King Carol ordered Goga to resign.—Ed.)

No sooner had Goga's resignation been accepted than the patriarch accepted a mandate to head a new government. Promptly, seven former premiers accepted their posts. All were sworn in at once.

Goga, announcing that he would not participate in the new cabinet, issued an 11-page statement, reflecting his blistering anger.

After his outburst, "Israel, you are victorious," he said: "There are men in the cabinet who brought our country into its present unfortunate position. What can one expect from such a government?"

He said he would not enter the new cabinet. "I, however, refused because I did not see the necessity for the present changes."

Then, in the early hours this morning, the patriarch formally assumed office. It is a cabinet coalition with a slight inclination toward the right, with a non-party premier. It comprises six liberals, three members of the Rumanian front, two national Democrats, one national Agrarian and various non-political personages.

BRINGS SINGERS

June Class to Sponsor Concert at Senior High Tuesday.

The June graduating class of the Senior high school will sponsor the appearance of the Master Singers Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium.

This group is made up of seven men who will present a program of songs from well known operas, and favorite tunes from light operas and musical comedies.

The Master Singers were organized five years ago by Jacques Honier, one of America's most successful leaders of male vocal groups, and have appeared in concert in various sections of the country. Many of the arrangements used were made by Honier.

The concert will begin at 8 p. m. and is open to the public. The singers will give a special concert for high school students at an assembly Wednesday afternoon.

Chicken Thieves Routed As Farmer Grabs Gun, Fires

PERRYVILLE—D. F. Cooper of Perryville R. D. 1, frustrated a raid on his poultry house, put back to roost three sacks of chickens left behind by the would-be thieves and then turned newspaper reporter today and wrote a warning to other farmers.

Cooper said while he was reading, he heard a noise in the chicken house. It was only a slight noise but it led him to investigate.

Grabbing his gun he hurried outside and saw two men running from the poultry house. He fired his shotgun three times but the intruders escaped in a nearby woods.

Returning to the chicken house, Cooper found three sacks filled with chickens.

"I would like my experience to serve as a reminder to other farmers who might be careless about keeping their chicken houses locked," Cooper said, and in closing he added:

"Owners of these old sacks may have the same any time they call in person."

Jamboree Banquet Tomorrow to Top Scout Observance

The big social event for Mansfield Boy Scouts during their celebration this week of National Boy Scout week, will be the Jamboree banquet at 6:30 p. m. Saturday in the dining room at the Elks home.

The banquet is for scouts who attended the National Scout Jamboree last summer at Washington, D. C., and for those who were registered to attend the 1935 jamboree, that was called off by President Roosevelt because of an infantile paralysis epidemic.

The banquet program will include a talk by Dr. D. C. Lavenor, chairman of the health and safety committee of the Johnny Appleseed Area, who will review the 1937 jamboree trip, and show motion pictures of the national and world jamborees. Dr. Edward Chapman of Mt. Gilead will be a guest at the banquet. The scouts also will exchange pictures taken in Washington.

Scouts from Mansfield, Galton, Shelby, Ashland and Lexington will attend the event with their fathers as guests.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1938.

A powerful minority continues to collect excessive taxes from a submissive majority.

Some folks seem to think that in a land of opportunity a comfortable living should be delivered at their door.

At least one congressman thinks there should be a three-cent coin—which, in Ohio, might serve in lieu of a sales tax token.

License Revocations Must Stand.

REVOCATION of driver's license promises to take on a more serious aspect in Ohio as the result of a ruling by Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy that neither the registrar of motor vehicles nor any court that has revoked a driver's license has the power to modify, change or restore that license.

Heretofore it has been common practice in some parts of Ohio to restore driving privileges to persons whose licenses had been suspended or revoked for offenses against traffic laws.

Suspension or revocation of license is provided for driving while under the influence of liquor, conviction of manslaughter in a traffic case, failure to stop after an accident and for conviction of a felony in which a motor vehicle has been used.

Persistent weeding out of persons who show that they cannot be safely trusted to drive an automobile is an important part of the campaign to reduce traffic hazards. Elimination of a wishy-washy policy in regard to license revocation will help.

Stock Market 'Goats'

THE Securities and Exchange commission, which regulates stock and commodity exchanges, believes the "small speculator" is nearly always wrong, and has started an inquiry to prove it.

This may seem like putting the cart before the horse. The logical procedure would be to start with unbiased minds, seeking facts and letting the conclusions fall where they may. But perhaps the premature conviction doesn't matter, if the investigators will do an honest job of fact-gathering and logical deduction.

The SEC idea is that the little speculators don't rush into the market till it is near the peak of an upward movement, and never start selling out on a downward movement until the prices are near the bottom. Thus they lose both ways, buying high and selling low. The big fellows, and the professionals who win on the whole, year after year, are supposed to understand trends better, shrewdly unloading on the little fellows when the price is high and buying back from them when it gets low again.

It will be interesting to see whether the SEC can prove this assumption.

Move Against Runaway Marriages.

A RECENT decision of the Indiana supreme court upholds a law requiring that a marriage license be secured in the county wherein the prospective bride resides.

In Ohio there has been a recent movement toward revision of marriage laws, including proposals to raise marriage-age requirements, refuse recognition to "common law" marriages, impose health qualifications and outlaw elopements to other states.

Ohio, some years ago, instituted the requirement for a five-day interval between filing an application and issuance of a marriage license.

Whatever further changes may eventually come about in marriage and divorce laws, probably including greater uniformity among the states, should grow out of past experience rather than being merely arbitrary action by legislators.

Well-intentioned young people, for instance, looking forward hopefully to happy married life, might well take warning from the sad experiences of many couples who have eloped to other states, lied about their ages and place of residence, and rushed into a marriage which brought heart-break to families and misery to themselves.

Among the ignorant and the immoral, such behavior is understandable—just as are the criminal tendencies of some subnormal persons—but the average young person, who has had the advantage of home training and schooling, cannot be excused for willfully ignoring accepted standards of proper conduct which are the outgrowth of centuries of slowly advancing civilization.

Why Jail Dr. Townsend?

DURING the past year the name of Dr. Francis E. Townsend has become so far removed from public thought that something of a shock came with reading that a 30-day jail sentence still stands against him, on a contempt charge growing out of his conduct at a house of representatives committee hearing more than a year ago.

While it is entirely within reason that the court of appeals should uphold legality of the jail sentence and $100 fine, this appears to be an instance in which justice could be tempered with mercy without doing any harm.

Dr. Townsend is merely a well-meaning old gentleman who became obsessed with a visionary idea, as has been the case with many people within the past few years. His "plan" has long since passed the point of being seriously considered by any large number of people.

Now that the legality of the proceeding has been established, it would seem sensible procedure to annul the jail sentence and permit Dr. Townsend to go his way, rather than cast him in the role of martyr by sending him to jail.

WITHIN as short a time as two or three years, an aviation transport man says, passenger planes will fly regularly at 20,000 to 27,000 feet. They will take off and land through radio and instrument guidance, irrespective of weather conditions. Pilots of his line have made more than 5,000 successful blind landings and take-offs in experiments for this development.

The cabins of the high-flying planes will be sealed. Pressures equal to about 8,000 feet will be maintained, eliminating discomfort to passengers.

All this will mean, he believes, swifter and safer transportation, far above bad weather and bumpy air.

Hull's Philosophy Was Once Blaine's Idea

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Cordell Hull made a radio broadcast a few evenings ago in favor of his policy of reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and other countries. It was a good speech, too.

The secretary ably developed the idea that it is difficult for a single country to be prosperous, while others are economically depressed. That true prosperity must be world prosperity—and that world prosperity is possible only to the accompaniment of free international exchanges of products and services; of commerce generally.

BLAINE FORGOTTEN

Away back in James G. Blaine's era a bit of "reciprocity" legislation was enacted—when advocated by him.

It was not very effective; there was too much Democratic opposition to it.

Now "reciprocity" is pro-Democratic. It is forgotten that James G. Blaine invented it; it is Cordell Hull's philosophy.

Haven't times changed?

TIMES CHANGE

Who would have thought that the Democratic organization would be boosting at present for the anti-lynching program?

We know why, of course; the Democrats are bidding for the colored balance of power in states like New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—where negroes do vote, disregarding the suppressed ballots in deeper Dixie.

It goes without saying that such an administrative attitude is embarrassing to farther southern lawmakers. They wish that the administration would quit it.

Here again, times have changed.

SHORT SELLING

"Selling short" on the stock market is denounced as one of the causes of the current "recession."

"Short selling" similarly was denounced in the early period of the Hoover depression. Chairman Peter Norbeck of the senate committee on banking launched an investigation into it.

He did not get to "first base" with it.

It is too bad, for (now dead), he was an honest legislator.

Nevertheless, as a Republican, his inquiry was a fizzle.

To get any results, it took the activities of a subsequent banking investigatorial committee, under the late Senator Fletcher's chairmanship (with Ferdinand E. Pecora's assistance).

Now the question again is raised: "Short selling?"

CHANGING TIMES

If there is anything in consistency, how about all this?

Reciprocity? Anti-lynching? Short selling?

Are they partisan issues?

If so, why are both parties on both sides of each of them?

ARMAMENT FEARS

As for the armament race—it is causing fear among the capitalists of every nation.

Countries are spending their wealth on unproductive monsters and finance as to delay recovery for an indefinite period. In fact, the consequences would be so disastrous that it is hard to believe that the opposition is to be taken seriously. The holding company is so much a part of our whole system of business organization that it is hard to see how or why it should be completely abolished.

Nevertheless the discussion aroused ought to concentrate attention on the abuses of the holding company. Anyone who has the slightest familiarity with modern corporate structures is aware of the needless complexities that exist. Some of these structures have been brought into existence in order to make possible the profitable flotation of security issues. Others are used to conceal shady transactions from the government, the investor and the consumer. In many cases there is no public advantage in bringing together properties of a miscellaneous sort located in different parts of the country. In other cases the consolidation of numerous properties into one operating organization would be advantageous to all concerned.

But these undoubted abuses cannot be reached by an indiscriminate attack on all holding companies. The old style "trust-busting" campaign has never been of value and it will not reach the problem today. Attacks on "trusts" always bring a measure of thoughtless public support but have not appreciably eliminated the most flagrant abuses.

As usual there is no simple remedy. It is to be hoped that in the reorganizations now going on, for example among the railways, there will be found ways to simplify corporate structures. It is gratifying to notice that under the pressure of existing legislation some of our other public utilities are following this practice. An indiscriminate dissolution of holding companies would accomplish little or nothing, as has been amply shown in a number of cases where the supreme court has required it. There is, however, a vast need for reform in many directions. Intelligent pressure, through legislation if necessary, and some voluntary action from business men themselves will do much.

One of the most puzzling of our problems is presented by the holding company. Just why the president has chosen to propose the elimination of all holding companies is not clear. An active drive to do this would be so disturbing in all lines of business that it is a euphonious combination of the name Wass with the termination ing, signifying "settlement or community consisting of descendants (of Wass)" and tunc, conveying the idea of a small landed estate or enclosed farm, and of which our word "town" is a derivative.

THE STATE OF Washington.

"I desire," said Representative Stanton, of Kentucky, in the House of Representatives on February 8, 1933, "to see a sovereign state bearing the name of the father of our country."

And so, on motion duly made, seconded and carried, Washington was inserted in the bill, replacing Columbia as the proposed name of the new Territory.

The name "Washington," which can be traced back about a thousand years was originally Washington or Wassington, a Sussex ideograph made up literally of a root and a couple of suffixes.

Keeping Step

Must Give All to German War Machine.

—By LESLIE EICHEL

FUEHRER HITLER'S rule in Germany is not so unanimously upheld as is supposed. German capitalists, in fact, are registering opposition—as much as they dare—to Nazi regulations.

It is true that the German capitalists with the aid of the large landholders (Junkers) put Hitler and the Nazis into power. Their aim was to stifle labor unions, democracy, socialism and what they termed "alien competition." They succeeded in that. But they had not counted on the fact that a Nazi or Fascist regime implies that the state (government) is the end-all, the supreme power.

As a result, today, German capitalists are within the grasp of the most merciless state machine that exists in any capitalist country. The Nazis' four-year-plan to make Germany self-sufficient in case of war, forces capitalists not merely to pay for the plan but to replace their machinery with the latest improvements, whether they desire to or not, and to make new investments for experiments in substitute products. But if the business is not involved in the government's plan there are no new investments, there are no new replacements, and the business man is in constant fear of fine or imprisonment if he does not please the bureaucracy. There is only one aim in all Germany—to build the industrial machine into a self-contained war machine. But if there is no war—will there be a collapse? A war machine is not self-supporting.

If there is a collapse, will it not have world reverberations?

OF COMMON INTEREST

The economic situation in Germany is of world-wide interest. It is of more interest to the democratic nations than to Germany's Fascist allies—Italy and Japan. Italy and Japan are poor countries. Germany needs trade with wealthy nations—Great Britain, France, Holland, the South American nations, and most of all, with the United States. And those countries require trade with Germany.

If somehow the political barriers, which now are bound up with a thousand prejudices of which not the least is race, could be overcome, the economic collapse that threatens not only Germany, but the democratic nations as well, might be stayed.

And if the freedom of trade could be restored to world powers, would political freedom and international sanity not also return?

This is not a theoretical question asked merely to make a column. It is a question being discussed in the foreign offices of the United States, Great Britain, France—and Germany.

There is a belief in some quarters in England that Hitler may desire to be less nationalistic; that he is eager for rapprochement with Great Britain and perhaps the United States. He probably realizes he cannot go on spending the nation's capital indefinitely on armaments. He undoubtedly would like "trade concessions" (they could be on both sides) to show to the German people a "great victory" over Germany's "enemies."

The British, for their own protection, may try to oblige him. And that would isolate Italy—and cause Japan to go more slowly.

ARMAMENT FEARS

As for the armament race—it is causing fear among the capitalists of every nation.

THE PIPER'S TUNE

CHAPTER XXVI

There was no mistaking that lank figure in a long coat, slouch hat on the back of his head—the honorable Lucian Pomphrette. Why couldn't Dad have said he was in town?

"Hello, Terry!" Caradad greeted him brightly. "I have a surprise for you."

"How are you, Cantine?" The judge extended his hand. "I've known you since you were knee-high to a grasshopper. Haven't seen you in a long time. How are you?"

"I'm fine, thank you, sir. How are you, Dad?"

"I'm fine, too. The judge is having dinner with us—will it suit you to eat here?"

"Of course. I'm ready any time you are."

"Just a minute, you two," Pomphrette interposed. "I'm no hand at making speeches—in society at least. So we may as well get this over with now. You see, Cantine, this girl tells me she's been nursing some wild since she hit the big town. Gone and got herself engaged. I reckon she's told you about it?"

Terry gave a start. Dad surely couldn't have explained everything! A quick and understanding smile from her reassured him. "Why, she did mention it," he managed.

"Well, sir," Pomphrette's hand came out again. "I don't need to tell you that you're about the luckiest young fellow alive. I sure do congratulate you with all my heart. I don't figure that you're good enough for her, but I wouldn't know of anybody that was."

"I agree with you," Terry said in a low voice. "But I assure you that I appreciate your congratulations. Thank you."

"And don't I get any congratulations?" Caradad asked demurely.

"I should think you'd have had enough this past year to last you a lifetime," the judge snorted. "I think they've gone to your head, if you ask me. I hope you'll both be exceedingly happy and stay married as long as your folks did. And now, that's that. How about eating? I wouldn't mind drinking your healths, while we're at it—if you won't mention it to Mama when you see her. There's still some honorable forms of etiquette she won't line up with."

"Mum's the word!" Caradad promised gayly. "Maybe I'll break over this once myself. Let's go. I'm hungry."

If Terry feared that the judge was to have a part in the financial settlement between himself and Dad, he was pleasantly disappointed. Pomphrette remarked brusquely, as they left the dining room, that he had a little business to attend to and was sure the young folks would excuse him. He would see Caradad at breakfast, if she got up in time. And, doubtless, he would run into Terry before leaving for home.

Terry suggested rather diffidently that he and Dad go to the mezzanine. She put Terry at his ease by assuring him the first thing that Judge Pomphrette's visit was a complete surprise to her. "It was my telegram that brought him," she confessed. "He was rather wrought up—until I explained. Then, of course, he had no objections to offer. Much so that's all right—everything's fixed, I suppose," she added with her usual directness, "that we might as well talk it over. The money's here in the bank. Do you want to tell me what you need to take care of everything—right?"

The answer to that question was a blow to masculine pride, now that the time had come. Terry tried to match his small benefactor's casual tone.

"Pretty close to six thousand—for everything."

"All right. And you'd rather not have a check, I suppose. We'll go to the bank tomorrow and I'll get it in currency."

"I'll give you my IOU—fixed any way you say."

"No," Caradad shook her head. "There's no going to be any paper like that between us. You can give me a straight receipt without any notations. And now, let's forget about it for today."

For the next half hour she chatted in her usual fashion—of Judge Pomphrette mainly. How funny he was and how dear, once you got under his brusque exterior.

By degrees, Terry relaxed. His first impulse, when the conversation became general, was to ask Dad to go out somewhere for the evening. Until he remembered suddenly that it would put him in rather an awkward position, whether Caradad accepted or not.

As he was mulling over this a smiling young man, hat in hand, appeared apparently from nowhere. "Pardon me," he began, smiling at the puzzled Caradad, "but this is Miss Vardell, isn't it?"

"Yes," she returned hesitatingly.

"Miss Vardell," the intruder went on hastily, "my paper is running a little story about you tomorrow. I wondered if you wouldn't give me a little interview, too—just something about your visit here. Impressions, that sort of thing—and if you have a recent picture you can let me have."

"Of course not!"

"Well . . . I wish you would. It's a good story for us. Oil heiress from Oklahoma—announces engagement to Chicago man, you know. Say!" He grinned at Terry. "Bet you're the chap—Cantine, isn't it?"

The latter bounced to his feet. "Never mind who I am. Didn't you hear this lady tell you that she has nothing for you? Beat it, before I throw you over that rail!"

"Don't get tough, big boy," was the impetuous reply. "If you don't want to play, it's perfectly all right. We have the story. And, with that, he walked away."

As Terry threw himself down beside Caradad with a growl of resentment, a dazzling white blink flashed from the shadows of a nearby pillar. Caradad clutched at his arm in fright.

"What was that?"

"Flashlight," Terry was on his feet. "Wait! I'll . . ."

"No, no! Please! Don't make a scene."

"But they're not allowed to pull that stuff in a place like this! I can . . . I'd like to know who tipped them off . . ."

"I wonder, too. But it's too late."

Her curiosity was not appeased until the following morning. At eight, Judge Pomphrette called her and announced that she would find him in the main restaurant. Ten minutes later he was peering at her over the top of his paper. He removed the hornrim spectacles that were astride his hooked nose.

"Morning, my dear. Well I see the paper has done very well by us this morning."

She gave a little gasp. "Uncle Pompey! Let me see . . . Oh! Isn't that dreadful!" She almost snatched the paper from his hands to stare at a two-column cut showing Terry and her on that mezzanine settee.

"Why," said the judge, with a dry chuckle, "I don't think it's very bad of you. Cantine looks pretty peeved about something. You two haven't started fighting already, have you?"

"Oh, no," Caradad assured him dismally. "Terry was mad because a reporter had tried to ask me questions. And another one sneaked up and took a flashlight just after Terry made the other man go away."

Caradad read the headlines and skimmed through the few paragraphs in a daze. Girl millionaire from Oklahoma . . . daughter of prominent rancher, now dead . . . sole heir to fortune made overnight by oil gushers . . . on first visit to Chicago . . . announces engagement . . .

"But Uncle Pompey!" Caradad wailed softly. "How could they have known all that? How could they?"

"I told them—sort of."

"You?"

"Well, my dear—you see, you're something of a person now. I reckoned it wouldn't be a bad idea for the folks at home to know that you're cutting some swath up here. I'll take a flock of these papers back with me."

DESCRIBES NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN ELECTRICITY

Westinghouse Engineer Will Present Illustrated Talk Here Next Wednesday.

The newest developments in electricity, including the "electric eye" and the "atom-smasher," will be described in an illustrated lecture at Senior high school auditorium Wednesday night by Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at East Pittsburgh.

Bringing a miniature laboratory with him, Dr. Thomas will show engineering discoveries that will help to make life easier and safer.

Among the discoveries he will illustrate and describe are an "electric eye" that deals cards in to bridge and poker hands, the use of polarized light to eliminate headlight glare on the highways, and the destruction of microbes and dust particles by the rays from a special lamp.

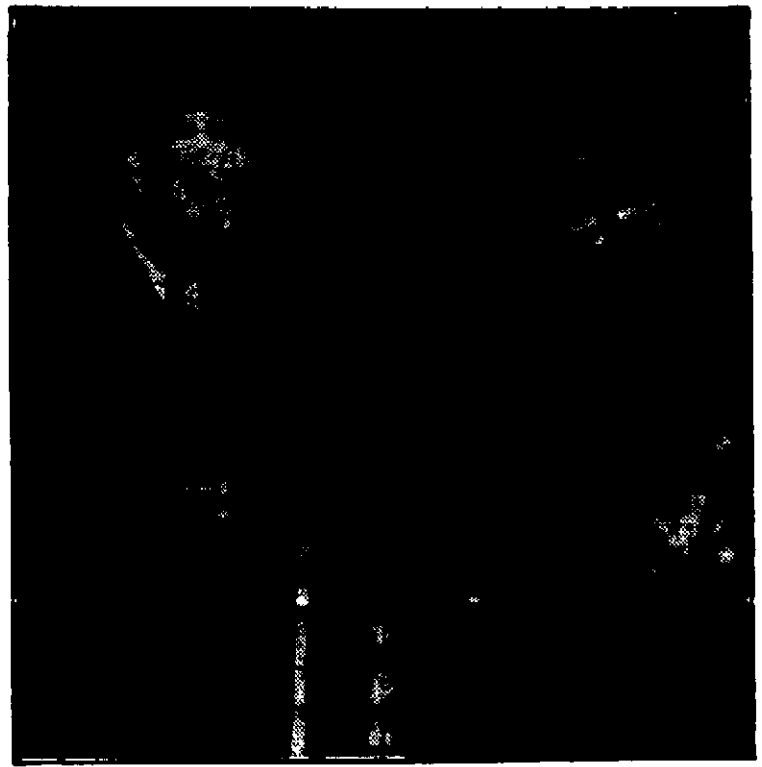

Research Engineer Since 1911. A native of Granville, O., Dr. Thomas is a graduate of Ohio State and Princeton universities and has been with Westinghouse as a research engineer since 1911. He has received patents on a number of electrical devices.

Describing research as the solving of engineering jigsaw puzzles, Dr. Thomas said: "The pieces of the puzzle cannot be placed together unless they fit the pattern of previous accomplishment, and the process of fitting is the work of the researcher. Now and then one will find the connecting piece that will join different parts together."

"In the old days there was little to build on. Today in large engineering organizations, groups of experts can pool their efforts, systematically measuring and sorting the pieces of the puzzle. This system," he said, "has resulted in rapid advancement."

Dr. Thomas' lecture will be

Cleans Air By Electricity

Dr. Phillips Thomas is shown above with a model electrostatic precipitator and will demonstrate how electricity literally sucks dust, smoke and bacteria out of the air in his lecture Wednesday night at the Senior high auditorium. The precipitator, developed by Westinghouse engineers, is now in operation in several experimental installations in Washington, Chicago and elsewhere. It "electrocutes" dust by charging it with electricity, then attracting it to oppositely charged plates where it sticks as though glued. The air can be electrically cleaned of more than 99 per cent of dust, smoke and bacteria in a few seconds.

open to the public. There will be no admission charge. His appearance in the city is being sponsored by the Mansfield Westinghouse organization. The lecture will begin at 8 p.m.

FRESH PEACHES, STRAWBERRIES GIVE MARKETS 'SUMMER' TOUCH

Perhaps the fresh peaches from South America and the outdoor ripened strawberries from Florida which will be found on Mansfield markets tomorrow, will help to carry on that "spring feeling" despite falling temperatures.

And if they need backing up, there is honey dew melon for Sunday morning breakfast. Lingering on the market after a long winter season are California pears and grapes. Persimmons, nectarines, avocado and limes are among the luxuries that are available.

New potatoes, green peas and asparagus have a "spring" sound also; and there is watercress for a spring salad. Lima beans, although no novelty this time of year, are tempting, either in the pod or shelled, and may be found both ways. Green string beans and yellow wax are suggestions for winter menus.

Then there is everything for a combination vegetable salad—to-matoes, peppers, celery and green onions. Also in the salad line are the three kinds of lettuce—leaf, iceberg and butter heads; and ascalora, endive and French salad. Popular too, for salads, are Chinese celery and Savoy cabbage. In the fresh green vegetables for cooking the markets offer kale, mustard greens, spinach, artichokes and parsnips. Squash is a favorite item, and egg plant, which may be used as a meat substitute, may be found at many places. Rhubarb offers variety, and cranberries, for salad, dessert, or just plain "sauce," are much in demand.

SWALLOWED 22 SPIKES
CRANBROOK, B. C.—(AP)—Mrs. Aloysius Sima of the St. Eugene Indian mission had too much iron in her diet. When Dr. W. F. Green operated on the woman he removed 22 six-inch spikes from her stomach. She could not explain how she had swallowed the spikes.

LOOK OUT when Soap Suds Die!

Washing water is choked up with greasy soap-scum. The cause of dingy grey washes, gloomy washdays.

Have whiter washes, shorter washdays with CLIMALENE, the instant grease-dissolving, dirt-removing cleanser. Yet use only 1/2 the soap. Suds never go pft-t-t!

Dead soap suds indicate dead cleaning power. And with the washing water choked with thousands of sticky soap curds...scummy throughout...clothes come out dingy, faded and grey-looking. No matter how hard you work!

To have whiter, cleaner clothes, shorter washdays...thousands of women use CLIMALENE, the safe grease dissolving, dirt removing cleanser that cuts washing time in half. Saves 1/2 the soap. Sprinkle CLIMALENE in your washing water.

TRY BOWLENE THE MODERN CLOSET DOWEL CLEANSER—NOW 10c and 25c

before the soap goes in. Just a tablespoon or so. In "conditions" water, hard or soft, for the soap. Thus add only half the soap formerly needed. Rinse in CLIMALENE water. Clear water is not enough. And your clothes come out amazingly white. Colors bloom clear and bright again. You get a totally new conception of cleanliness.

CLIMALENE cuts through and instantly dissolves dirt, grime and stains that soap can't remove. Ends soap-scum, which holds the griminess you are trying to wash away. The destructive soap-scum which rots fibres, fills up fabrics, fades colors.

Consider what CLIMALENE means to you. Whiter clothes. No fading. Fresher colors. Rich, luxurious suds that always stand up. That never go pft-t-t. Half the work, 1/2 the soap saved in the laundry, dishpan and all cleaning. Get CLIMALENE from your grocer today. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages. The Climalene Company, Canton, Ohio.

Assembly Recesses, Leaves Relief Bill on Calendar

BUSINESS JAM CARRIED OVER TILL FEB. 28

House Extends Installment Payments on Delinquent Tax Accounts.

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS—The Ohio assembly put aside its legislative cares today, having postponed until Feb. 28 sine die adjournment date consideration of two highly controversial bills.

Still pending were a relief administration measure and an appropriations bill—not to mention scores of minor measures.

Leaders expected to clear up the jam in a final burst of continuing several days beyond the adjournment date through that legislative expedient of stopping the clocks and holding the calendars open.

Called into special session last Nov. 29, the legislature has taken care of only relief funds, appropriating about $12,000,000, but most officials agreed the sum was insufficient.

Action Delayed.
With the exception of providing additional funds for certain educational institutions, special appropriations measures still await action. Appropriations of about $3,000,000 for various departments have house approval but the measures remain before the senate finance committee which has whitened them to about $1,000,000.

One of the concrete actions of the house yesterday was re-enactment of the Whittemore act under which persons owing delinquent taxes can pay their obligations on the installment plan. The bill now awaits senate action.

The house also appropriated $400,000 for pay increases to minor employees in welfare institutions and approved a bill to increase the pay and shorten the hours of all employees in state schools and hospitals.

Still awaiting house action was the controversial Ogrin measure which would transfer the state sales tax on liquor sold by the state to the counties.

The senate meanwhile approved and sent to the house a $600,000 appropriation to pay the state's share of works progress administration projects at state hospitals and passed a house-approved bill aimed at "rustlers." It would give the state highway patrol power to investigate ownership of livestock, grain and seed transported on highways.

The senate also voted to extend until June 30, 1938, the Gallagher law under which financially-pressed municipalities could re-finance their obligations by re-organizing under federal bankruptcy acts, permitting them to issue 30-year bonds instead of shorter-term obligations.

Bloodhounds Trailing 3 Fleeing Convicts

Up and Down THE STREET.

Fred E. Elder, senior high biology teacher, has a first class mystery on his hands. The other day he received a package from Bulgaria which contained four copper coins about the size of a quarter. He can't make out the inscription on the coins and he can't imagine who sent them. There was no message in the package and Elder says he doesn't know anyone in this European country.

In a news story in Thursday's News-Journal, the figure for last year's circulation at the Public Library was given at something over a half million, just twice the actual figures which were 291,292. No, the half million wasn't "license of the press," nor was it calculated by the lads who estimate crowds at political rallies. It was arrived at by the simple process of adding the total to the total which only a reporter would have the originality to do. Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, frankly wishes the reporter were right, but in the interests of truth she insists that her report with the smaller figures, was correct.

Bill Black, Jr., son of Attorney and Mrs. William F. Black, 93 Glenwood boulevard, is home for several days visit with his parents, between semesters at the University of Michigan, where he is a sophomore. A vacation frequently would seem almost imperative when you know the extent of Bill's extra curricular activities. He has made his letter in golf and is on the varsity golf squad; he is sports writer for the Michigan Daily, college newspaper, and reporter for his fraternity paper, Alpha Tau Omega; he is a member of the sophomore financial committee, and is on the fraternity basketball team. And besides all of that he has passed his classes (he's majoring in economics and business administration) with flying colors.

Jack Robson, 104 East Luther place, has submitted three entries in a national contest for a poster on careful driving. Miss Lelle Headley, Partner in Studio, Taken by Death.

Miss Lelle Headley, 117 1/2 West Third street, a partner of the Headley-Perez studio, 45 North Mulberry street, died Thursday forenoon at General hospital following a three-week illness. Miss Headley was born in Lucking county, and had been a resident of Mansfield for 15 years.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Baird and Mrs. Dora Rowling of Columbus and Mrs. Mollie Sherman of Danville, O.; three brothers, Fred Headley, Columbus, Frank Headley of Pataskala, O., and Otto H. Headley of Lancaster. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

The body was removed to the Pinetree funeral home where service will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. David M. Roller. Burial will be in the Pataskala cemetery.

SHERIFF FEARS NEW VIOLENCE

Beating of UAW Organizers at London Followed by Arrest of Union Representative.

(By United Press)
LONDON—Sheriff Gorman F. Clark today said "more trouble is likely" as an aftermath of the beating here yesterday of two organizers for the United Automobile Workers.

Arrested after he sought protection from the sheriff, Joe Ditzel, field representative from Toledo, was to be arraigned today in charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Sheriff Clark said he found a .32 caliber revolver in Ditzel's automobile, under $1000 bond, said he placed the gun in his car during the General Motors strike and "forgot all about it."

Nick J. Moskun, president of the county advisory group and Clarence Mowery and G. H. Culler, were chosen members of the advisory council. Each of the 10 counties in the Northcentral association is represented by a director and two council members.

A report of the activities of the Shelby Co-operative creamery, which is operated by the Northcentral co-operative, showed that approximately 6,000 pounds of butter is being produced weekly at the creamery and 200 cases of eggs are being handled.

Moskun, who had a black eye, said this was his third trip to London.

SLOW RECOVERY LOOMING FOR RECESSION, RAIL MEN BELIEVE

(By International News Service)
CLEVELAND—Railroad and industrial leaders today considered the statement of Col. Leonard P. Ayres, nationally known economist and vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, that recovery from the present recession may be slow.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Traffic club of Cleveland, Ayres said depressions are V-shaped or U-shaped, and present one is of the latter class, indicating that recovery probably will be gradual. A diagram of business activity reaching back over a period of years, he said, will show depressions of different characteristics.

"Some of them may be called V-shaped because business declines sharply, and having reached the bottom immediately starts upward again, and so has a V-shaped contour.

"Others are U-shaped because business goes down and then moves sideways for a number of months on a kind of irregular floor before starting its recovery."

The great depression, according to Ayres, was L-shaped, because it went down sharply, moved along the bottom, and then fell away "into the basement."

Ayres said that it was likely that the club speaker a year from now would discuss "some one or more of the four plans proposed for the re-organization of the railroad industry."

He outlined as the four plans, compulsory consolidation into a limited number of great systems; government ownership; re-organization of the weaker roads through new, rapid-action bankruptcy laws; or the pooling of railroad earnings, enabling the more prosperous roads to pay the deficits of the poorer ones.

The last is the "most inadequate," Ayres said. "It is likely," he said, that "the federal government, which has regulated (the railroads) for 50 years, will finally undertake to find solutions for their problems."

TWO CAPTURED AFTER SAWING BARS OF CELLS

Michigan City 'Idle Gang' Prisoners Make Escape In 2 Automobiles.

BULLETIN
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—(AP)—State police today captured the third of five convicts who escaped last night from the Indiana state prison. He was George Christian, caught near Valparaiso, Ind., as he fled across a field.

(By International News Service)
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.—Bloodhounds backed up by scores of state police today trailed three long-term convicts who helped engineer a daring escape from the state prison here last night.

Two of the gang were captured late last night near Wheatfield after they abandoned their stolen car and it was believed one or more of those remaining at large was hiding in the vicinity.

A second car, however, was taken in the break and the hunt was spread over a wide section of the state and even into Illinois on the chance the fugitives on foot had transferred to the other machine.

The two trapped were Frank Pavlench, 34, and August Cummings, 37, of Indianapolis.

Still At Large.
The three still at large are Angelo Genzo, 27, George Christian, 26, both of Gary, Ind., and Theodore Hurst, 26, of Indianapolis. All were serving long terms as robbers.

The break was made about 6:30 p. m. last evening after they had been locked in their cells for the night. All were members of the "Idle Detail" and had no jobs in the prison. They had used their time to saw bars in the roofs of their cells, concealing the work with tape.

Dropping to the wall, they let themselves down with ladders made from strips of their mattresses. Although the floodlights were on and guards stationed only a few yards away, the five went undetected until they met a trusty in the yard outside.

Clubbing him down when he tried to stop them, the gang fled to the cars outside. The trusty, whose name was not revealed, ran to the gates and reported the escape.

ORDERS SHIFT

Mrs. Allman Switches Two Hospital Heads.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—State Welfare Director Margaret Allman said today she had ordered the superintendents of the Lima State Hospital for Criminal Insane and the Cleveland State hospital to trade positions, effective March 10.

Dr. R. E. Bushong has been superintendent of the Lima State hospital for five years, and Dr. Guy H. Williams has been connected with the Cleveland State hospital for 20 years.

Mrs. Allman said she had had the change under consideration for some time and that she considered it "for the good of the service."

There will be no change in the salary of either psychiatrist, Mrs. Allman said. Each receive $3900 a year.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

An Upsetting Report.
THE REPORT that Gov. Herbert Lehman intends to be a candidate for renomination this year in New York is particularly interesting for a number of reasons. If he really does run—and his friends believe he will—the somewhat premature calculations which our more advanced political seers have been making about the 1940 Democratic situation, will have to be revised.

For one thing, it would upset the political plans of the White House concerning which there has been little secret. The particular friend and adviser of the president—young Mr. Robert H. Jackson—now solicitor general—is a practically declared aspirant with the unquestioned good wishes of Mr. Roosevelt and tentative support from certain labor leaders though significantly not that of James A. Farley. At the time Jackson modestly let it be known that he wanted the nomination, it was assumed that despite his strong disinclination, the president in time, could bring him into line and that with the White House weight, Jackson could be nominated with ease, celerity and grace.

IT WAS natural that this state of affairs should stand Jackson out as a strong possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940. The New York governorship is recognized as the best position in which a man can be to gain that honor. With two years in Albany and administration support no one could doubt that Jackson would be foremost among the 1940 contenders. The combination of his avowed candidacy and his White House closeness made it logical to regard him as the Roosevelt choice for his successor, and it would be strange, indeed, if Jackson had not thought of himself in that light. The thought seemed to stretch reasonably clear before him.

HOWEVER, the Lehman candidacy—should it materialize—would change the whole situation and certainly dim the bright visions which have been dancing before the Jacksonian eyes. For one thing, if Governor Lehman decides to go after it, there is not much doubt about his getting the nomination, and that, of course, automatically, would eliminate Jackson from the national picture.

In the second place, it would put Mr. Roosevelt in a position of acute personal embarrassment—because he does not now like Gov. Lehman, nor want him to continue in public life.

YET, if he should be nominated, he would be compelled to support him—first, because he would be the Democratic nominee and, second, because he is under recognized political obligation to him. Most people will recall the extraordinary efforts made by Mr. Roosevelt and Farley to induce Governor Lehman to rescind his decision not to be a candidate that year. At that time—just before the Philadelphia convention—the New Dealers were not nearly as confident as they later became. They were afraid of losing New York and felt that the Lehman candidacy was vital. The heaviest kind of pressure was applied to Governor Lehman to run again. It culminated in his being taken by the president to Hyde Park and there personally appealed to in a way no man could resist.

AS IT turned out, of course, the president who have carried New York if Governor Lehman had refused, but that does not alter the fact that neither the president nor his friends thought so in July. Then they thought New York could not be carried without the Lehman candidacy. And when he yielded, the New Deal eulogies of his nobility of mind and character echoed to the skies. It was last summer that the time changed. Then Governor Lehman, who is a deeply conscientious man, after long thought and after having personally expressed his views to Mr. Roosevelt, urged him to drop his court-packing plan, made a public statement of his opposition. At once, Mr. Roosevelt's friendship, which had extended over years, changed to bitterness; and this was reflected in the violence of the attacks upon Governor Lehman by New Deal spokesmen and White House intimates, which is an additional evidence of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt has a very much deeper resentment toward his friends who disagree with him than toward his enemies. At any rate, so far as the White House is concerned, Governor Lehman has been in the doghouse since July, 1937, when he declared against the court bill.

THAT HE should now consider running for governor again, when the president has planned to put his young White House favorite in his place, and the young White House favorite, not unnaturally, is thinking in terms of 1940, is a distinctly unpalatable dose. Perhaps Mr. Lehman, who two years ago was genuinely anxious to resign his public life, will not run, but the printed reports that he is preparing to do so have not made life any lighter in what is known as the "inner circle."

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—In his latest stab at the title of Master Showman of Hollywood, Samuel Goldwyn succeeds so brilliantly that his failure is the more pronounced.

"The Goldwyn Folies" is The Touch's first musical entry in two years. For beauty and for comedy it is unsurpassed by anything Hollywood has ever done. For one sequence alone, "The Water Nymph Ballet," the film sets a new high in beauty of staging, setting, and performance. The color photography, throughout the picture and most notably in this sequence, is of the highest quality, far beyond anything yet presented in the medium, and so startlingly life-like at times that the screen becomes an intimate, close-up stage. The humor, generally, is rollicking, genuine, occasionally sharply satirical, varying in appeal from an uplifted eyebrow of Adolphe Menjou to the broad slapstick insanities of the Ritz Brothers. The performances of the principals—Menjou, Andrea Leeds, the "Stacy Dool" girl who here proves that the rosy promise of that role was no freak, the ballet dancer Zorina who is a gifted comedienne as well as one of the original Graces, Kenney Baker whose singing is as nice as his ingenuously shyness—are splendid.

Half-Baked Chestnuts.
With all these elements and more combined into a resplendent offering, Goldwyn's picture is handicapped by a number of would-be comedy cases which are likely to fall flat on the resounding silence of an audience spoiled into expecting everything to be perfect. Considering that Goldwyn had a whole corps of his best writers laboring on the script before Ben Hecht took charge and did the final version, it seems incredible that an aspiring Master Showman should have left these

in. In an ordinary film perhaps these chestnuts could be forgiven. In a picture of this magnitude, however, they jar distinctly. Perhaps, however, it was inevitable that in his effort to crowd everything into one picture the producer should have admitted stiff below the production's high par.

There is material here to capture widely varied audience tastes. Helen Jepson in glorious screen operatic debut; Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy (stealing all their joint sequences from veteran Phil Baker); ballet and swing, classical music, and hotcha. Gershwin songs—two hours of amazing entertainment, with exceptions above noted.

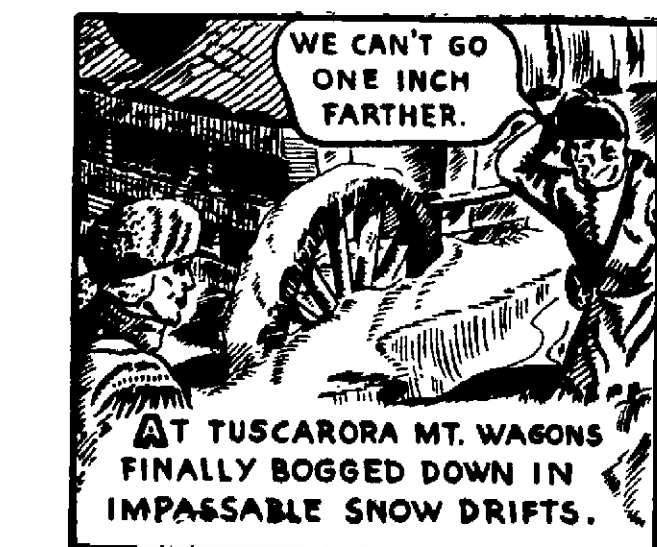

Novel for a screen "extravaganza" is the intimate feel of the musical numbers. Instead of acres of sets and hundreds of girls, Director George Marshall used the technique of "lavish simplicity" to give the camera a front-row seat and the audience an ereful.

In Brief:
"A Yank at Oxford" establishes Robert Taylor's claim to be a man-nishness in a ace, hokumish bit of painless education abroad, expertly done and a sure-fire winner. Maureen O'Sullivan is the girl, and there's an English actress, Vivien Leigh, who ought to be in Hollywood Jack Conway directed.

OHIO PIONEERS—

General Putnam Joins His Party

1787-1788

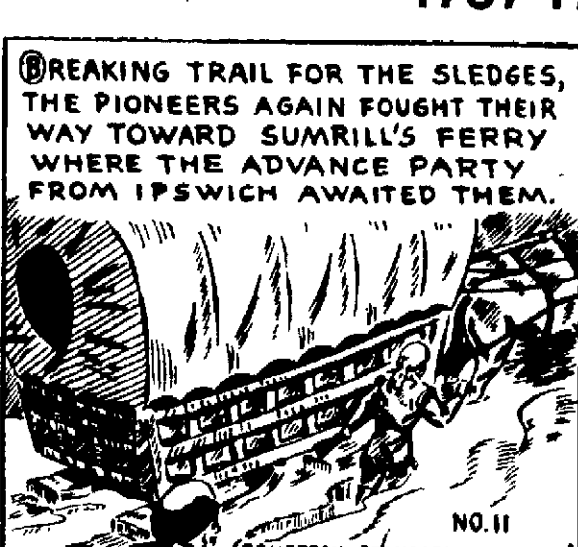

AT TUSCARORA MT. WAGONS FINALLY BOGGED DOWN IN IMPASSABLE SNOW DRIFTS.

GENERAL PUTNAM GAVE THE COMMAND TO CUT DOWN TREES, AND BUILD SLEDGES.

SLEDGE RUNNERS WERE HEWN OUT OF TREES WHICH HAD TOWERED FAR OVERHEAD BUT A FEW HOURS BEFORE.

BREAKING TRAIL FOR THE SLEDGES, THE PIONEERS AGAIN FOUGHT THEIR WAY TOWARD SUMRILL'S FERRY WHERE THE ADVANCE PARTY FROM IPSWICH AWAITED THEM.

Feb. 11—Today's pioneers, who are reconstructing the trek of Putnam and his band 150 years ago, are finding that the life of the trail breaker of that period is by no means easy. At the woods of West Newton on the banks of the Youghiogheny river, giant trees are being cut down and whip-sawed into timbers to make the boats which will carry the caravan to Marietta. Whip-sawing is a slow laborious job in which logs are placed on trusses. Using a two-man saw, one man works beneath the log and one on top of it, holding the saw at approximately a 45 degree angle. Three whipsaws are now in operation and timbers are rapidly piling up on the banks of the river. Twenty trees have been cut down, sixteen have been hewn out and eleven have been whipsawed into planks. In addition to their work today's pioneers are acting host to hundreds of visitors who call on their encampment.

Etiquette For Younger Set Discussed

By EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please write an answer for the benefit of my mother who thinks it is not right for a girl of fifteen to go alone to football games, school dances and movies with a boy of her own age, or perhaps a few years older.

Answer: Impersonal questions of propriety can never be answered satisfactorily because so much depends upon the girl and boy individually. If the boy you want to go out with is one whom your mother knows and likes, and if you have been brought up to have sufficient sense and self-reliance to know perfectly well what you should and should not do, there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't be allowed to go to the football game or to the other places you suggest with a boy of whom your parents approve. Of course I am taking it for granted that you will behave with propriety, which means, in case you would like to know, that your behavior when alone is exactly the same as it would be were your mother—or let us say your older sister—present. Do you see?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am seventeen and I sometimes go to the early movie or to school dances with a certain boy. The other evening when we got home from a movie he came on into the house with me as he always does. This time we both knew that my parents were out. I didn't want to make any kind of issue of their absence because, as I see it, he would certainly think that I consider him in a different light than as just a good friend. It was very early and he stayed at most half an hour. I thought nothing of it but next day I mentioned it in the conversation with mother, and she thinks it was a terrible thing for me to have done. "What will the neighbors think?" she said, and I said, "Let's see what Mrs. Post thinks before we worry about the neighbors."

Answer: Your mother was right. Asking a boy to come into an empty house, even letting him come in when your parents are asleep, is a bad precedent to establish. If two or three boys and girls came in together to forage in the ice-box, with all the lights turned up and your mother or other grown person near enough to hear you moving around the kitchen and getting something to eat, this would be perfectly natural and harmless procedure—especially if their foraging visit to the kitchen is very brief. But to invite a boy into an empty house is certainly likely to suggest the question: What for? And the answer to each "what for" is going to be whatever your neighbors are inclined to imagine for themselves. Shades up, bright light in kitchen and both of you eating answers, "what for?" very satisfactorily. But otherwise it may be that the gossip will be thinking that after all you've been dancing with him or talking with him all evening, and certainly you can say good night at the front door. No, my dear, the evidence that you and he want to be together alone in the uninterrupted silence of an empty house is giving the neighbors very solid food for gossip.

Hunting Jewelry for Hunt

By LISBETH
Not the least important and delightful of the season's fashions is the current trend in jewelry. You can embellish your dress, suit or even your housecoat or beach ensemble, with the gayest, daintiest, and most fascinating costume jewelry imaginable.

An interesting old European custom of hunters was dividing the stag horn so that each participant in the hunt would have a trophy. This was done by slicing the horn, allowing the rough exterior to remain unfinished, and carving figures symbolic of the hunt in the white center of the horn.

Among the interesting fashion accessories seen as members of the historic Hunt club at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., lined up behind the hounds for their chase of the season, was new costume jewelry simulating these Viennese stag horns.

The ensemble consists of bracelet, brooch and clips, all using the old Viennese custom as their inspiration. These replicas are made of a plastic material called catlain. They are pictured here worn by a fair rider, and attracted considerable attention at the hunt.

NECESSITY A SPUR
Cause and effect are sometimes hard to distinguish. If a declarer who bid a mere game manages barely to make the game, whereas another who bid slam makes his slam, we have a case in point. Did the better player bid higher because he can play hands better, or did he play the hand better because he had to when he found himself in a higher contract? The answer can be given both ways. Sometimes necessity is a spur to greater deeds and sometimes

Diet May Be Cause of Drawn Look

By GADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty."
MANY GIRLS, I've found, place themselves definitely out of the attractive class by adopting a harmful reducing method when they find themselves overweight. They try to acquire figure beauty at the sacrifice of facial loveliness, and there is no percentage in that. A wan, drawn look does not add beauty to any woman's face. Even men have told me that they would rather see a couple of extra pounds on a woman's figure than a haggard, half-starved look on her face.

Many women, unfortunately, complain that whenever they try to reduce, their faces become thin, haggard and wrinkled. Yet it really isn't necessary to sacrifice the soft, youthful contours when trying to lose weight. But the reducing method employed must be a good one. A well-balanced reducing course should not have any such effect. It is when too-quick reduction is effected that the face becomes thin and drawn, for the skin, which had stretched to accommodate the fat beneath it, does not have time to adjust itself to the change of contour when the fat is dissolved too quickly, and so it sags in wrinkles.

Reduce Sensibly.
When a sensible, well-planned reducing routine is followed of course, this does not result. For such a course gives the skin time for sufficient shrinkage to adapt itself to the reduced facial contours. As the face grows thinner, the skin tightens, and the face consequently retains its youthful appearance.

Always make sure, therefore, if you desire to preserve the youthful appearance of your face while you are reducing, that your reducing routine is a well-directed one. Then, if you obey several wise and sensible injunctions, you should not find yourself losing facial beauty as well as pounds.

The injunctions that I refer to are very simple indeed. First, do not stint on your daily water intake during your reducing period. Be sure to drink at least eight to ten glasses of water each day. This will help to prevent your tissues from shriveling up through lack of sufficient fluid.

Next, use a good, rich tissue cream on your face nightly before you retire, and permit it to remain on over night. Such a cream padded into the skin nightly will help to nourish the tissues and round out the facial contours. The frequent use of a good, bracing astringent also is advisable, in order to tone up the skin and keep it firm and youthful.

Mary: I'd suggest that you have your teeth cleaned and polished by a competent dentist, in order to remove all tartar and calcareous matter. Proper brushing will then keep them white and sparkling.

Wrinkles.
Patty: Frowning, usually causes such wrinkles. You must cure yourself of this habit. The nightly use of lanolin or a rich cream will then nourish the sensitive tissues and help to dim the lines.

HOROSCOPE
For Saturday, Feb. 12.
Mutual aspects bearing rule on the affairs of this day stress very sudden and surprising developments, probably with the element of love, adventure or romance showing other more sordid matters out of the picture. Swift change, travel, impulsive moves, with some phases of the obscure, hidden or strategic, may be expected.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a rather intriguing and surprising year, with benefit or failure according to the individual shrewdness and cautious handling of somewhat precipitate and unusual situations. These have to do with adventure, romance, emotional crises rather than business, and require circumspection as well as diplomatic manipulation.

These appeal to youngsters very much. Place ball of ice cream on a plate, dip a toothpick or small brush in melted chocolate and paint on eyes nose and mouth, then use an inverted cone for a hat and you have a jolly clown.

Young chickens are fond of milk. It is highly nutritious and promotes growth. Skim milk is excellent. If whole milk is fed it is well to dilute it with 1-3 to 1-2 of water.

Quickly Eases Itching of Eczema
You do not have to continually suffer from the fiery itching of eczema. One application of Ite Mint, which you can get at any drug store, will give quick relief. Ite Mint is a pure, snow white, medicated cream and it is fine to use on the itching, torturing eczema. It is pleasant to use and one jar will last for weeks, even if used two or three times a day. Good for itching between the toes too. Try it once and you will never be without it.

sult do you wish to wear into the city?"

Frales Mer Taste.
She considered a second, then looked up at me with childish appeal. "You pick one out," she said. "Your taste and judgment are unerring."

"On that I'll take a bow" and I told her smiling, and went out of the room and directly to the kitchen downstairs, where I found Katie cleaning out her refrigerator with painstaking care. "Hello! You want sumthings?" "Yes, if you're not too busy," I countered.

"Me. I no so busy," she assured me equably. "My breakfast deeshe all done, and my lounch tings all ready, only last minit feexing. Und dees cleaning ice box almost feexish. I plan nuddings extra today, for I tink maybe you want no help mit Mees Mary's clothes, get her ready for city."

Not Mere Guess.
"You guessed it the first time, Katie," I told her gratefully. "That is just what I do want of you."

"I no guess," she retorted a shade resentfully. "I deedoes in vay I learn in my decautif correspondence course."

"That is very nice, Katie," I told her, battling with my risibles, and winning only by the slightest of margins. "And I shall be so grateful for your help. When you've finished come up to my room, and we'll look things over and find out what's to be done."

"Okay," Katie acquiesced briefly. "But I feel so sorry for dot poor Mees Mary. She no care vot she wear, her heart is so sore."

And on that lugubrious and, I feared, truthful note, I went back to my room, and Mary's packing. (Continued tomorrow.)

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON
MARY LOOKED up at me contritely as I delivered my ultimatum that she must attend to the inventory of her belongings at once and cease the half-gibing, half-admiring recital of my system of moth prevention and clothing inventory, which she was recounting to my intense embarrassment, to Miss Whitlock.

"Oh! I'm sorry, Auntie Madge," she said. "I ought to have realized how much you have on hand today. I'll get busy on this right away."

She turned to page 64, her own inventory, as I had admonished her to do, and read it through silently. Then, after checking it over, she looked up at me.

"Ready with the old pencil?" she asked.

I held it up to her, smiling.

Finishes List.
"Begin," I said, and for five minutes she read out a list of the things inventoried which she wished to take with her to the city, and I wrote them down upon my note pad. When she had finished, she shut the book and handed it back to me.

"That's my list," she said. "All the rest of the things can stay right here, if you don't mind giving them free storage."

"This happens to be your home, you know," I told her with an ingenuously sincere smile to her lips. "Don't I know that, you darling, of all in-laws?" she countered, and then her face lengthened.

"Thanks to your system, you'll get this job done in record time," she said, then added ruefully, "but when I packed my duds at the camp to come down here, I just threw them in any old way. I have not the slightest idea what I have except that I brought everything along I cleaned out my hotel room and looked in every corner and crevice as Aunt Harriet taught me to do. But my suitcases are in the worst jumble you ever saw."

Madge Takes Charge.
"Don't worry; another second over them," I adjured her. "Am I right in thinking you want to take along everything in your luggage except the things you would use only at the camp or at the farm?"

"Correct as the hinges of the hot place," she retorted flippantly.

"Then that is an easy task. I'll just leave your camp things for Katie to clean and put away after we're gone—she knows what to do. And I'll pack the things you want to take with you together with these articles I'm lugging out of moth storage. You won't have to think about any detail of your packing again—except—which
